YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

DUBLIN PARTNERSHIP ACTION.

LEAVE TO APPEAL REFUSED.

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON AND MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN.)

In the case of John Edwards, Homeville, Howth road, Clontarf, against Louis Malone and Kate Malone, 118 St. Laurence road, Clontarf, Mr. Lavery (instructed by Messrs. C. J. Reddy and Sons) applied on behalf of the defendant, Kate Malone, for leave to appeal against an order giving the plaintiff liberty to mark final judgment, notwithstanding that the time had expired.

Counsel said that the action was brought to recover £300 alleged to have been paid to the defendants in consideration of a partnership with the defendants in the business carried on at 198 Parnell street, Dublin, the partnership having wholly failed. The defendant, Kate Malone, said that the partnership was entirely between the plaintiff and her husband; she was not to be a partner, did not receive the £300, and had no concern in the transaction. On the hearing of the final judgment motion there was no appearance for the defendants. Judgment was marked and subsequently a writ of fi. fa. as delivered to the Sheriff and certain goods and furniture of Mrs. Malone were sold. Subsequently a judgment was registered as a judgment mortgage against the house and property of Mrs. Malone, and an order was made on an originating summons declaring the mortgage well charged to raise the amount on it. The defendant, Kate Malone, made the case that, after the writ was served on her, she, with her husband, together, instructed their solicitors to enter an appearance to defend the action. An appearance was entered, and it appeared that the solicitors, having written to Louis Malone and not having received instructions from him, allowed the order to be made in default of appearance. The defendant, Kate Malone, said that from the date when she instructed her solicitors to appear and defend the action she received no communication from them, and believed that her rights were being defended. She was ill and did not know final judgment had been marked against her until she read it in the newspapers. A motion was instituted on her behalf to set aside the judgment on the ground that it had been marked by default. That motion was refused, on the grounds that the judgment could only be challenged by way of appeal from an order of the High Court giving liberty to mark judgment, and the defendant now applied for liberty to appeal. There were affidavits filed in the High Court on the motion to set aside the judgment, and counsel submitted that if these had been filed on the judgment motion final judgment could not have been obtained against this defendant.

Mr. Geoghegan, K.C., who, with Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Mr. James Fagan), appeared for the plaintiff in the action, said that other solicitors had been acting for the defendant, Kate Malone, during the time that she could have brought the appeal, and he submitted that there were no special circumstances in the case which would entitle her to an extension of time, and he asked the Court not to divest the plaintiff of the right which he had acquired under this judgment.

The Court unanimously refused the application, with costs, holding that the judgment was regularly marked, and that the applicant had not discharged the onus which was on her of showing that justice in any way required that the time limited by the rule should be extended to enable her to appeal from the judgment.

AN ABANDONED RAILWAY.

ADVANCES MADE BY BANK.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

The arguments were resumed and concluded in the case of Sands v. McCann and others, an action commenced six years ago, which now came before the Court on further consideration of the Chief Clerk's certificate, and related to the liability on foot of certain guarantees given to the Bank of Ireland in respect of advances made in connection with Parliamentary proceedings in London with regard to a project undertaken for the construction of a railway called the Newry, Keady and Tynan Railway, which was ultimately abandoned. The bank, it appeared, had made advances amounting to close on £20,000 for Parliamentary deposits with regard to the promotion of bills in the English Parliament. When the action was started it was concerned, in the first place, with two guarantees—for £8,569 in July, 1900, and for £4,000 in August, 1900. The action was brought by Jane E. Sands, T. P. Ledlie and P. H. Millan, executors of the late Robert Sands, merchant, Newry, against the defendants—Arthur McCann, baker, Newry; F. Fisher, shipowner, do.; J. Connor, chemist, do.; G. N. Smith, nurseryman, do.; F. Redmond, barrister, 10 Waterloo road, Dublin; R. S. Redmond, merchant, Newry; W. T. Whelan, contractor, Brooklyn, U.S.A., and A. C. Duncan, accountant's clerk, Barnet, Surrey. The plaintiffs claimed contributions from the defendants as co-principals with the late Mr. Sands. The defendants had filed separate defences, which were mainly traverses of the cause of action, the Statute of Limitations being also pleaded.

The Chief Clerk's certificate showed that the following payments had been made on foot of the guarantees:—Robert Sands, £10,231; A. McCann, £2,447; T. Irwin, £1,208; W. F. Redmond, £1,126. The defendants J. E. Connor, S. Duncan (except £10 lodged in bank), A. Whelan and F. Fisher had not made any payments.

Mr. H. Wilson, K.C., Mr. Leonard, K.C., and Mr. Poole (instructed by Messrs. R. A. Mullan) appeared for plaintiffs; Mr. Moonan (instructed by Mr. A. Gartlan) for McCann; Mr. Jellett, K.C., and Mr. Charles Murphy (instructed by Messrs. Fisher and Fisher) for F. Fisher; Mr. Overend, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Hunter, Moore and Boyle), for executors of A. Whelan; and Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Messrs. Wray and Telford) for representatives of T. Irwin.

Mr. Leonard continued his argument for the plaintiffs.

Mr. Overend, for executors of A. Whelan, pointed out that the payments were made by different persons at different times, and there was no evidence of acquiescence as regards those payments by any of the other parties, especially Fisher and Whelan. In order to take the payments in respect of Parliamentary deposits out of the Statute, they must be payments of such a kind that a promise to pay must be inferred as a fact. Payments made in respect of Statute-barred debts were voluntary payments, and, therefore, the plaintiffs were not entitled to contribution from the defendants.

Mr. Justice Meredith gave judgment in favour of the plaintiffs on all the points raised in the case. He held that the payments made in respect of the different guarantees had not the effect of barring the claim for contribution by the defendants which had been made by the plaintiffs, and that the defence of the Statute of Limitations and the other defences pleaded by the defendants failed; and that, therefore, the plaintiffs were entitled to the declaration given in the order of Mr. Justice Powell, as amended by the order of the Court of Appeal, discharged from the proviso in the order that the declaration was without prejudice to the defences that might be raised, as the defences had now failed. His lordship held that the Statute of Limitations did not run with regard to the first and larger guarantee for the Parliamentary deposit, as the payments made to the bank in respect of the second guarantee kept the original guarantee alive. If the two guarantees had been one transaction those payments would not have taken the case out of the Statute, but that was not the case here. There would have to be a further reference to Chambers, he said, in order to ascertain the liability of those who had to pay, to get particulars with regard to all the payments made at present and the sums that remained to be paid by certain individuals on foot of certain guarantees, and particulars of the specific payments under the different dates, and in what priority or order.

His Lordship reserved the question of costs.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

A FORGED CHEQUE.

EX-CIVIC GUARD REMANDED.

Patrick Waters, lodging at Neary's Hotel, Parnell street, was remanded till Wednesday next, charged with fraudulently inducing Mrs. H. Conlon, the proprietrix of the hotel, to endorse a cheque for £55; with forging the name "James Norris," and with obtaining cash for the cheque at the Rotunda branch of the National Bank.

Mr. Monahan, one of the hotel residents, said that the accused man, who had been staying there for some weeks, asked him for a cheque form, stating that he wanted it for Inspector McManus, of the Civic Guards, in order that the inspector might pay him his wages. The witness offered a cheque form of the National Bank (Manchester branch), and the accused paid him twopence for it.

Mrs. Conlon gave evidence that on Thursday last the accused asked her to endorse the cheque, telling her that, as he was a stranger in Dublin, he could not get anyone to endorse it. He said that he was a nephew of the Rev. James Norris, Wigan, Lancashire, who had sent him the cheque. The witness endorsed it, and a week later she was notified by the bank that the cheque had been returned from Manchester marked "No account."

Detective O'Connor said that he found the accused in the Rotunda branch of the bank writing a telegram to "the Rev. James Norris." When shown the returned cheque he said that he was short of money and had asked Mr. Monahan for the cheque form. He added that he was a Civic Guard stationed at Galway. At the Bridewell later he said that he was an ex-Civic Guard. He admitted the charge.

TWICE-RESCUED PRISONER.

Herbert Hoey, Elliot place, was charged with being on enclosed premises with unlawful intent.

Samuel Yodaiken, 1 Mount Harold Villa terrace, off Leinster road, stated that in a yard at Lower Clanbrassil street, where he carries on business as a dealer in motor cars, he found the accused with a screw-driver in the act of dismantling a magneto, value for £8. The man made a dash to get out, but the witness caught him and brought him to the gate, with a view to getting a policeman. Hoey seized a heavy iron bar and made to strike him, but he avoided the blow. The accused thereupon struck him with his fists in the face. A crowd of about fifteen or twenty persons rushed into the yard and rescued Hoey. Subsequently the witness was in a motor car on his way to report the matter to the police when, in Clanbrassil street, Hoey jumped on to the footboard. The witness caught hold of him, but he was again rescued by the same crowd.

Civic Guard 136 C said that when he arrested the accused the latter said that he would "kill Yodaiken yet." Afterwards he said that he was drunk and went to the place for his insurance card.

Mr. Collins, in sentencing Hoey to three months' hard labour, said that the stealing of motor parts was becoming an epidemic that must be stopped.

ASSAULTED A SOLDIER.

James McCullagh, no business, Johnston's cottages, Rathmines, was sentenced to five weeks' imprisonment, with hard labour, for assaulting Private Whelan, stationed at Portobello Barracks, by striking him with a bottle in South Richmond street. Two men named Patrick Brannigan, Park View, and Michael Brown, Rathmines avenue, who were with Whelan, were fined 10s. each for disorderly conduct.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

COMMISSION ON TOMBSTONES.

DECREE GRANTED.

(BEFORE JUDGE PIGOT.)

The hearing was resumed of the action brought by John J. Dunne, Registrar and Secretary of Dean's Grange Cemetery, Co. Dublin, against John C. Harrison, trading as Burnell and Company, monumental sculptors, to recover the sum of £150 10s., claimed to be due in respect of commission on orders for tombstones secured for the defendant. At the previous day's hearing counsel for the defendant tendered a cheque for £70 in satisfaction of the claim, but this the plaintiff refused.

Mr. Bacon, for the defendant, said that they claimed against the plaintiff for money that ought to have been received by him for the defendant. They claimed that clients had paid him for work done. The amount was £15 4s., but they had given formal notice as to £5 9s. only.

Mr. Molony, on behalf of the plaintiff, said that he could not agree to this claim being made now. They had not got notice of it.

The plaintiff was recalled, by permission of the Court, and, in reply to Mr. Bacon, said that he got some orders for Burnell and Company. One was in the name of Ross, but for that one he never got any money. He did not admit having said that he would collect the money. He put an order for Lady Saunderson into Burnell's office and it was executed, but he knew no more about it.

Did you give to Burnell and Company Lady Saunderson's address? No; I was never asked for the address. As a matter of fact, as regards Lady Saunderson's tomb, the order was executed before they got the formal order. It was not a practical order, because we wanted to find out from the owner the person who would have permission to have the plot done up.

Mr. Bacon—We sent an account to Lady Saunderson, asking for payment, and we got a most indignant letter about it.

The witness denied that he opened letters addressed to Messrs. Burnell. He also denied that since his commission ceased he tried to divert business from that firm.

This closed the plaintiff's case.

Mr. John A. C. Ruthven, formerly an architect in Dublin, but now living in Edinburgh, was examined for the defence, and said that he did not give any order to the plaintiff in regard to a monument for the late Mr. Weatherill's grave.

25 PER CENT. ON RENOVATIONS.

The defendant, examined by Mr. Bacon, said that he carried on business as a sculptor in Brunswick street, Dublin. In 1922 he bought the business of Burnell and Company at Dean's Grange. In the first conversation which he had with the plaintiff the latter said that he was surprised to hear that Mr. Burnell had sold the place behind his back, as he (the plaintiff) was expecting to buy it for his son. The plaintiff explained that his terms were 10 per cent. on monuments and 25 per cent. on renovations. When the witness pointed out that he could not see his way to pay so much, he said that he could give the orders to a firm in Glasnevin, and that it would not be worth his while doing business there.

The witness then agreed to the terms, and in paying the commission he had no idea that he was doing anything contrary to the terms of plaintiff's position as registrar. He did not learn the true state of affairs until April, 1924. On a later occasion, when a conversation took place, the plaintiff asked for increased commission, and said that he knew another man who was making a thousand a year out of commission. The witness refused to give any increase. He now disputed the claim for commission on the ground that the order came to him direct.

Patrick Mulligan, foreman of Messrs. Burnell and Co., cross-examined by Mr. H. Molony, said that he (the witness) was in receipt of commission on orders received for about twelve months.

At the close of the evidence, his Lordship asked Mr. Molony whether he would say anything about the counter-claim.

Mr. Molony—I am prepared to give credit for £3 17s., but no more.

Having dealt with all the items in detail in the claim and counter-claim, Judge Pigot gave a decree for £83 13s. 2d.

COMMANDEERED CAR.

WOMAN'S ACTION AGAINST AUTHORITIES.

Mrs. Mary Kavanagh, 91 Harcourt street, Dublin, sought to recover from the Minister for Defence the sum of £200, the value of a Studebaker motor car alleged to have been "commandeered" at Loughlinstown on or about the 1st April, 1923, and used for military purposes. Of the amount claimed £100 was for the detention of the car.

Mr. Martin Maguire, K.C., and Mr. Sherry (instructed by Mr. John Moran) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Bewley (instructed by the State Solicitor's Department) appeared for the Minister for Defence.

Mr. Maguire said that Mrs. Kavanagh was an extensive milk contractor. The car was taken by the military, and was brought back after about a month in a battered condition and offered to Mrs. Kavanagh, but she refused to take it in that condition.

The plaintiff said that at the end of April, 1923, the car was towed back to her by a military lorry. The soldier in charge said that if she refused to take the car he was to take it to Collins Barracks.

In further evidence, it appeared that on Easter Sunday, 1923, the car was taken out by two sons of Mrs. Kavanagh without her knowledge. It was stopped by the military, and, as the boy who was driving had forgotten to bring out his licence, and consequently could not produce it, the car was held by the military. It was also stated that the car at the time was in good condition.

At the close of the evidence,

Mr. Bewley, on behalf of the defendant, submitted that the case should be dismissed, and in support of that contention referred to the Public Authorities Protection Act. He claimed that in face of the Indemnity Act, 1923, this action could not be instituted.

The further hearing was adjourned until this morning.

VAN DRIVER'S INJURIES.

Judgment was given in the action brought by Garrett Fulham, 573 North Circular road, against the Dublin Tramways Company, claiming £60 damages for injuries sustained by him on the 17th October, 1924, on the Botanic road. The plaintiff had pulled up a Ford van by the side of the narrow footpath, when a tramcar struck the van, throwing the plaintiff over the wind-screen.

Judge Pigot held that there was an error of judgment on the part of the tram-driver amounting to negligence. He thought, however, that the plaintiff would be adequately recompensed by a sum of £35, and gave a decree for that amount.

COMPENSATION AWARDS.

(BEFORE JUDGE DROMGOOLE.)

Mrs. Margaret Hyland, 11 Chester road, Ranelagh, claimed £800 compensation for damage to her house and the destruction of her furniture on February 8th, 1923.

Mr. James Cawley (instructed by Messrs. O hUadhaigh, Little and Proud) appeared for the applicant; Mr. Horan (Chief State Solicitor's Office) appeared for the State.

The applicant, in her evidence, stated that about twenty men, some of them armed and others carrying picks and crowbars, came to her house at about two o'clock in the morning. They turned herself and her children out of the house, and declared that they were going to break up the house as a reprisal for the blowing up of a house in the district that night.

To Mr. Horan the witness said that some articles might be bought a little cheaper than the amount claimed.

Senator Farren, brother of the claimant, deposed to seeing the house on the day after the raid. It was a total wreck. There was not an article of furniture that was not destroyed. He believed that £500 would be a fair amount to replace everything as before.

Mr. McGinty, valuer, for the defence, estimated that £170 was sufficient for repairs and £50 for the house.

His Lordship gave a decree for £375, full reinstatement condition to attach to £75.

Patrick Mahon claimed £20,000 compensation in respect of the destruction of his printing premises in Yarnhall street, Dublin, and also machinery and goods.

It was stated that armed men raided his premises on the 10th February, 1923, and left bombs which exploded and destroyed the place. At the time of the attack the claimant was the official printer to the Provisional Government.

Mr. James Cawley (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.), who appeared for the applicant, said that a settlement had been reached between Mr. Mahon and the authorities, the former agreeing to accept the sum of £9,733 in full settlement.

His Lordship made an award for the sum mentioned and allowed 100 guineas costs.

Disgusting Catarrh Completely Banished By New Treatment

Complete Relief from Every Symptom Guaranteed—Test FREE

No longer need anyone be embarrassed and handicapped in social and business life by the foul, offensive breath; the nasty, abhorrent nasal discharges; the thickened, impeded speech; which always accompany Catarrh. No longer need anyone run the risk of deafness, of chronic bronchitis, and even worse infections, which often follow this unpleasant trouble.

For a wonderful new treatment has been perfected by physicians of the Clinical Laboratories, Cleveland, Ohio, which almost instantly checks the excessive mucous, and which curbs every symptom of Catarrh within 24 hours.

This remarkable new treatment is known as Dr. Platt's Rinex Prescription, and is entirely different from any other.

No more surface spray, ointment, or inhalation. Science now proves that Catarrh is not simply a surface disease, but is the result of impurities and poisons in the system, which the system is trying to throw off. Surface treatments cannot possibly get at the internal cause. But the Rinex treatment, taken in simple capsule form and absorbed into the blood through the digestive tract, quickly neutralises these poisons throughout the system—without any narcotics or other harmful drugs. The result is relief in 24 hours or less.

No matter how long you have had Catarrh, or how many other treatments you have tried in vain, Rinex is positively guaranteed to relieve you—or it costs you nothing. The regular size package costs only 5s.—to be returned in full if it does not do the work.

You can have a trial package entirely FREE by writing to the Clinical Laboratories (Dept. R.C. 93), 46 Holborn Viaduct, London, E.C.1.

Why endure repulsive Catarrh a day longer when it can be so easily and quickly banished? Try Rinex to-day. Incidentally it is sold under the same money-back guarantee to completely relieve Asthma and Head Colds. Be sure to get the genuine Dr. Platt's Rinex Prescription in the air-tight flask. It may be obtained at the following chemists:—

ATHLETICS.

THE TRIANGULAR CONTEST.

Preparations for to-morrow's contest at Croke Park are now almost completed. The Scottish team will arrive this morning, and the English team in the evening, and both parties will make Jury's Hotel their headquarters. So far the only change in any of the teams is the substitution of D. A. Quinlan (Dublin University) for J. A. Price (Queen's University, Belfast) in the hurdles for Ireland, Price, owing to an injury, being unable to compete. The change will not, however, seriously affect Ireland's chances, as neither of the Irish pair was expected to give a race to either Gaby or Browning, of England, or Clarke, of Scotland. Another athlete who should command respect is M. C. Nokes, the English hammer-thrower. He is the only real hammer champion which England has produced. He beat Matt McGrath in London last year with a throw of 170 feet odd.

John O'Grady is pretty certain to win the "flat," as the English and Scotch pair are moderate; and Colohoun should be second in this event.

The high jump should also result in Ireland getting three points, as neither the English nor Scotch competitors have yet done 6 feet. Kerr, of Scotland, however, has cleared 5 ft. 11 in., so that Shanahan will need to be at the top of his form to get second to Stanley, who should clear 6 ft. 2 in. Denis Cussen is very confident of winning the 100 yards. He has only to reproduce the form shown in the National Championships to make the first Irish victory in the "sprint" a possibility.

The management of the Olympia Theatre have invited the parties to the "second house" this evening.

A meeting of the International Board will be held at Jury's Hotel on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, after which Mr. J. J. Keane (Hon. President, N.A.C.A.), will entertain the members to luncheon.

The contest will begin sharp to the scheduled time (3 p.m.) to-morrow, and the Artane Band will discourse a selection of music at intervals during the afternoon. On Saturday evening, at 6.30, the teams and officials will be entertained to dinner at Jury's Hotel.

GROCERS' SPORTS.

The Illinois Athletic Club, whose touring team sails this week, and who will compete at the grocers' sports at Croke Park on the 19th and 20th inst., scored an overwhelming victory in the American A.U. Central Division Championships at Chicago recently. They beat the Chicago Athletic Club by over 100 points, putting up splendid performances in nearly every event, and establishing new regional records in the 440 yards, hurdles and javelin. In the former event Hass beat Ivan Riley's time of 56 2-5 secs. by 1 1-5 sec. Riley was second. In the javelin Frieda had a cast of 201 feet 11in., beating the previous best by almost four feet. Osborne had an easy victory in the high jump, winning at 6ft. 3in. Evans clocked 9 9-10 secs. in the 100 yards, and was second in the 220 yards. Pope sent the discus 148ft. 9in., and Ray Watson covered the half mile in 1 min. 58 secs. Jones helped Myers to a new pole vault record of 13 feet, and won the broad jump with 23ft. 9in.

ROWING.

WATERFORD REGATTA.

It was most unfortunate that a sudden change in the weather should have spoiled what promised to be a good day's racing at Waterford yesterday. The rain, which fell heavily for a couple of hours, marred the proceedings as far as the spectators were concerned, but it had the effect of killing what wind there was early on, and the crews raced on calm water and a fast stream. Owing to a late tide it was found necessary to row the earlier races down stream, starting from the Bridge and finishing at Grave's Jetty. On the flood this was changed, and rowing up stream the crews finished on the usual line, close to the Ferry Slip.

A couple of scratchings reduced the second Senior Fours to three crews, but it failed to produce much of a race. Wexford Harbour had all the best of the start, and once half the journey was covered had the issue safe, to win from Waterford by two lengths. Clonmel proved much the best of the five that went to the start for the Junior Fours, and, rowing well together with plenty of life, took an early lead to win with something to spare. The D.U.B.C. "A" crew were compelled to scratch in this owing to the lack of a boat.

Both the Senior Four and the Senior Eight proved runaway races, Waterford B.C. scoring in the former and Lee R.C. in the latter, both by very easy margins. The Eights might have been an interesting race had all four crews gone to the start, but Cork and Shandon scratched. Indeed, there was only one race in the programme which was rowed as drawn, the difficulty of getting crews to travel being responsible for withdrawals in five races.

In the Junior Eights Dublin University B.C. followed up their win at Carrick by beating Clonmel and Waterford by a good three lengths. The University crew has made decided progress in the last couple of weeks, and sat a borrowed centre-seated boat in good style. Details:—

DUNDALK REGATTA ABANDONED.

The Regatta Committee of the Dundalk Rowing Club having found it necessary to cancel the date originally fixed for their regatta—viz., Thursday, July 9th, owing to same clashing with the 2nd day of the Dundalk Race Meeting, have found it impossible to fix on another suitable date, and the regatta has, therefore, been cancelled for this year.

CRICKET.

PLAYERS CHECKED AT THE OVAL.

GENTLEMEN'S FINE RECOVERY.

At the Oval yesterday the Gentlemen made a really wonderful recovery, after early batting failures had placed them in grave danger of having to follow on. When the eighth wicket fell their arrears amounted to 186, but Allen and Haig rose to the occasion splendidly, and by their skilful batting the Players' total of 403 for eight declared was passed, 193 runs being added in two hours and fifty minutes. The Gentlemen finished nine runs on with a wicket to fall. Only one of the Players' bowlers proved at all deadly, Tate being in his best form prior to lunch, when he took five wickets for 53.

Adjourning with half the side out for 123, the Gentlemen owed nearly everything to Calthorpe and Titchmarsh, who in opening the partnership scored 81 in a little more than an hour. Then four wickets fell for another 19 runs, Calthorpe, second out, having shown splendid power in his off drives to hit nine 4's, while scoring 63 out of 94. Tennyson also played a valuable innings. The Hampshire captain obtained nine 4's while scoring 69 in seventy minutes.

Everyone else failing to disturb the batsmen Tate had a very hard day. Allan and Haig began the partnership which so completely altered the state of the game soon after 3 o'clock, and until they had saved the follow on both were very steady and watchful. Subsequently the batting became less restrained. Haig's 98, which included ten 4's, was put together without the least mistake. Allan stayed to the close, having so far batted three hours and a half for 93.

Providing the weather keeps fine Lancashire should have very little difficulty in gaining their twelfth victory of the season at Old Trafford to-day, for Northants, with three wickets down, are in need of 66 runs to save an innings defeat.

At Harrogate Yorkshire gained a winning position over Worcestershire, who with two wickets to fall when stumps were drawn needed 37 runs to save an innings defeat. Leyland and Rhodes continued the overnight partnership until it had realised 132 as a result of ninety minutes' batting. Rhodes, who left first, was faultless in his style of scoring 65. Leyland, who was seventh out, made the highest score of his career, beating his 133 obtained against Lancashire last season. Batting three hours and a half without giving a chance, he scored 138 Yorkshire gained a lead of 233 on the first innings.

On a pitch from which the ball sometimes rose awkwardly and always took spin, Notts secured a commanding advantage over Kent at Tunbridge Wells, leaving off 384 ahead with three wickets to fall. Keen fielding supported Kent bowlers. Lilley was struck on the chin by a ball from Larwood in the second over of the day and retired, Whysall keeping wicket; but he batted in good sound style late in the afternoon, the wound having been stitched and bound up.

Glamorgan ended the day, facing defeat at Bristol, for they require 377 runs to win with nine wickets in hand. The visitors shaped very badly at the start of the day's play, losing six wickets for 29 in forty minutes, and they only just averted follow on. Dipper batted altogether three hours and three-quarters, and completed his thousand runs for the season. Arnott in his last three overs took five wickets for three runs.

Interesting and varied cricket was forthcoming at Leicester. At the close Leicestershire were 124 in arrears with eight wickets standing. Two briliant performances by Russell and O'Connor were the dominant features in the Essex first innings. Coming together when two wickets had fallen for one run, they were not separated till the total had reached 167. Russell, who was first to leave, scored 104 out of 166 during his stay of three hours. O'Connor was extremely deliberate in the early stages, but afterwards he scored rapidly all round the wicket, making his first hundred this season.

The best performances yesterday were:—

YACHTING.

SEAPOINT REGATTA.

The first regatta of the season and the fourth annual fixture of Seapoint Boat Club comes due on Saturday, and will be held, as usual, off the grounds of Blackrock House, which have been kindly placed at the disposal of the Committee by Mr. T. McCormick. There is no prettier location on the coast than this, and none more handily reached, it being mid-way between Blackrock and Seapoint, with the land entrance on the train line. At the regatta every yacht and sailing club of the coast will be represented, and this year the Dublin Bay 25-footers will race at it. The courses for the sailing matches are also always within view of spectators on shore. In addition to the sailing programme, there are two motor boat races, as well as rowing matches and a good swimming programme, and so a really interesting sporting afternoon is assured from 3 o'clock on till shortly after 6 o'clock.

BANGOR REGATTA.

KING'S YACHT ARRIVES.

The annual regatta of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club will be held in Bangor Bay to-day and to-morrow.

Among the arrivals are His Majesty the King's cutter Britannia. Next in importance, perhaps, is the American schooner Westward, which is owned by Mr. F. T. B. Davis, and is making her first visit to Ulster waters. Mr. H. Wild's Lulworth, and Lord Waring's White Heather II. are amongst the other arrivals. Sir Thomas Lipton's 23-metre Shamrock was also due yesterday.

CHESS.

THIS YEAR'S CHAMPIONSHIP IN DUBLIN.

The Irish Chess Championship will be decided in Dublin during the week September 28th to October 3rd. This decision was reached at a meeting of the Executive Council of the Irish Chess Union at Dundalk, Mr. J. J. O'Hanlon (Ulster) (for several years champion), in the chair. The present holder of the title is Mr. Philip Baker, of the Sackville (Dublin) Club, who, last year, wrested it from Mr. T. G. Cranston (Dublin Chess Club). Following precedent, the winner of the championship will be entitled to a gold medal. Leinster and Ulster Unions will nominate three and Munster and Connaught Unions two representatives each. Entrants must be of Irish birth, or resident in the country for two years. Next year the championship will be decided in Belfast.

It was also decided to hold an Open Major Tourney, thus making a special "chess week," following on the lines of the Tailteann chess last August. It was agreed that the British Chess Rules (1924) should be adopted and should govern the games in all the championships associated with the Irish Chess Union, which embraces all the leading clubs.

Prospective players should send their entries for the Major Tourney to Mr. H. N. Bowesman, Hon. Secretary, 33 Claremont road, Sandymount. Others desiring nomination for the championship should communicate with the Secretary in their province, or with the General Secretary.

MOTOR CYCLING.

ROAD RACE AT COOKSTOWN.

The Cookstown Club yesterday held a road race of 70 miles on a triangular course, in the neighbourhood of the town, of about six miles to the lap. The entry was small, on account of the number of similar events taking place about the same time; but, even so, it was better than last year, 21 riders entering, of whom 18 started. The weather conditions were poor, a drizzle lasting throughout the race, and causing much inconvenience to the riders, although it was useful in keeping down the dust, which would otherwise have been unpleasant. The limit man, Hunter, on a Triumph, was receiving 16 mins. 20 secs. from Chambers, who was virtual scratch through the absence of Matthews, of Brough. Hunter failed to complete the first lap through belt trouble, as did Hamilton (Scott), who suffered from partial seizure. Webb (B.S.A.) led from the fourth lap to the seventh, when a broken chain brought about his retirement. Chambers (A.J.S.) did one lap, and broke a petrol pipe on the second hill, Douglas doing six laps before retiring with brake trouble. Oliver Scott was riding fast, and from the 3½ minute mark got the lead on the eighth lap by over half a minute. He held this until the tenth lap, when plug trouble held him up, and he eventually finished in fifth position. Carson (Cotton), a novice, rode steadily from the 10½ minute mark, and when Oliver stopped he got into the lead, which he retained to the finish, winning by over one minute. Reynolds (A.J.S.) finished second by three-fifths of a second from Clancy (Raleigh), who also made the fastest time for the total distance. Ten riders finished. Result:—

1, Carson (Cotton) (10 mins. 30 secs.), 85 mins. 16 3-5 secs.; 2, Reynolds (A.J.S.) (3 mins. 30 secs.), 87 mins. 7 1-5 secs.; 3, Clancy (Raleigh) (8 mins. 15 secs.), 87 mins. 8 secs.; 4, McClean (New Gerrard) (8 mins. 15 secs.), 88 mins. 29 secs.; 5, Captain Oliver (Scott) (3 mins. 30 secs.), 90 mins. 41 secs.; 6, McGuckin (Norton) (4 mins. 30 secs.), 91 mins. 15 secs.

ANGLING NOTES.

WATERVILLE, CO. KERRY.

Since last report the weather has been very fine and warm, and trout anglers were much handicapped as the waters were very bright and low. Salmon anglers did not do so badly. Mr. Howatson had one 15½ lbs.; Captain Hurley, of the Indian Army, one 10 lbs. and a peal 6 lbs.; Mrs. Eaton one of 12½ lbs.; John Healy one 10 lbs. and two peal 5¼ lbs. and 5 lbs; Dr. McDonnell one peal 6 lbs. Sea anglers on Ballinskelligs Bay had record takes of splendid pollock, and many visitors have availed of this branch of sport.

PIGEON RACING.

FROM FRANCE TO ULSTER.

The old bird pigeon race from Landernau (France), under the auspices of the Mid-Ulster Federation and the Ulster Federation, takes place on Monday next, 13th inst., and promises to be one of the most interesting yet flown under similar auspices. Some eighty birds were sent from Lurgan on Wednesday evening from the various clubs attached to the Mid-Ulster Federation, and joined with the Ulster Federation's convoy at Belfast, making a total of 474 birds in all, which constitutes a record as far as Ulster is concerned in pigeon flying. The distance from the French town, where the birds will be liberated, to Lurgan is 425 miles. The route the birds have to fly is the hardest known. All the well-known cross-Channel (distance) champions are competing. The total prizes in money amounts to over £550, divided under the championship clubs and the federations mentioned.

NATIONAL ARMY SPORTS.

On Wednesday, at Carlow, G.H.Q. "A" hurling team met the 20th Battalion in a challenge hurling match. The 20th only recently won the Eastern Command Championship when they represented the 5th Brigade. They fielded practically the same team at Carlow. The game was very keenly contested, and was a splendid exhibition by two good teams. The local men were first to attack, but it took ten minutes of strenuous play before Burke went through for a major for the 20th. Both sets of backs played finely, and it was near the end of the first half before Henrick for G.H.Q. equalised. The second half was played at a good pace. Play for ten minutes was confined to G.H.Q. territory, and Meagher and Power added scores for the 20th. G.H.Q. did a lot of pressing, but were unable to add to their score. The 20th reproduced their championship form, and ran out good winners as follows:—

20th Battalion—3 goals 3 points.
G.H.Q.—1 goal.

The following are the semi-final draws in the G.H.Q. Command championships:—

Football—G.H.Q. v. Islandbridge, Phœnix Park, July 22. The winners meet Artillery in the final.

Hurling—G.H.Q. v. Portobello, Phœnix Park, July 22, the winners to play Artillery in final.

The G.H.Q. Command Council have decided to run off the three mile cycle (open) race, postponed from Saturday last, on next Wednesday at Croke Park at 4.30 p.m. It will be preceded by the replay of the hurling match for the Elvery gold medals between G.H.Q. v. Eastern Command, which starts at 3.15.

Books of the Week.

PARNELL.

Mr. St. John Ervine has put his best writing into his "Parnell"—a biography, the second volume of Mr. Guedalla's "Curiosities of Politics" series. He tells the story of the Irish leader's passionate career and tragic downfall with much power, and attains sometimes to an eloquence which is the voice of deeper feeling than was manifested in any former book from his pen. Unhappily, the faults which have marred other of his books appear once more. There is the ferocious and unmannerly invective against those in general who differ from the writer in religion, political views, race or social standing, and many passages attacking individuals are written in lamentable taste. The embers of the fierce hatreds which raged in the days of the Parnell split are fanned into flame, and living persons—who cannot present their defence with freedom—are assailed. Surely nothing is gained by reviving memories which all concerned would wish forgotten, or by dragging up for fresh and inconclusive discussion disputes which belonged to a moment of national humiliation, and in which no side was blameless. If Parnell could come to life, he would not ask Irishmen to revive an old quarrel, but to get back to the days when they were in happier accord, before the quarrelsome demon that afflicts the race got possession of their souls.

Mr. Ervine gives a very fair account of the political movement in which Parnell was the leading figure, although he does not tell us all that could be told of Parnell's inner political mind, and, perhaps, misleads the unsuspecting reader by representing Parnell as more consistent and more inflexible than he really was. He is, however, chiefly interested in the personality of his hero. He draws a more powerful picture of that extraordinary figure than we have seen in any other book. He holds, as many have held, that the story of Parnell's rise and fall will rank among the tragic themes of literature. That may come to pass when the sordid and personal associations of the affair have been washed away by time; and if Mr. Ervine had maintained a more detached temper, his book would have gone far to bring it about. He makes us feel the fierce angers and the sensitive agonies which slew Parnell when those who had promised him their adherence withdrew it in a revulsion of jealousy. He distinguishes carefully the attitude of men like Davitt, whose moral austerity was without hesitation against Parnell, from that of men who condoned worse sins than Parnell's, and threw him over only in a pretended indignation. He etches in the fine shades in Parnell's enigmatic character—the odd secrecy, the lack of humour. Who ever understood Parnell? Who could understand a man who read "Alice in Wonderland" carefully, gravely, without a smile, and said that it was "a curious book?"

Parnell's leadership is explained by Mr. Ervine in a racial sense, yet we are not satisfied with the explanation. How tremendously Parnell — like O'Connell before him—dominated the Irish race is puzzling, more especially since he treated some of his followers so brutally that he prepared the revulsion which destroyed him. His leadership was so exclusively militant that it created nothing that could survive the relaxation of his grip. When he fell nothing remained, and his followers broke into a very lust of mutual hatred, so that Ireland was forced once more into deeps of humiliation by her warring sons. Many readers will think that, in making Parnell the hero and the whole Irish race the villain of this tragedy, Mr. Ervine is wresting history and injuring the cause of reconciliation. His enthusiasm warps his vision of the true Parnell and of the true Ireland.

THE NOVELS OF CANON SHEEHAN.

The novels of the late Canon Sheehan continue to go into edition after edition. Six of them have been reprinted this year, and copies—beautifully turned out—lie before us. His best book, "Luke Delmege," is here—a novel as long and as crowded with thought and incident as a classic English novel. Here, too, are "Glenanaar," a good, though brief, story; "The Graves at Kilmorna," powerful and dramatic, and three of the minor tales.

Canon Sheehan's place in Irish literature is not easy to determine; but it is certain that it will be a lasting and an honourable place. Nearly all his tales are tales of the lives and experiences of priests, and thus his pages lack the freedom of range open to a lay writer and have a certain limitation of appeal. On the other hand, he had an almost unequalled intimacy of knowledge of rural Irish life, and a fine, scholarly style, which gave his work richness and quality unknown to most of our Irish novelists. The romantic emotions do not appear with much vividness in his pages, but none of our lay writers can interpret so well certain aspects of the spiritual life of the Irish people. There is a haunting sadness in almost every one of these books. "My New Curate"—which is not among the present reprints—is a kindly, mellow, happy book, and probably deserves its conspicuous popularity, but it is not the typical work of its author. It, almost alone, was well received in its writer's lifetime. The other books involved the author in storms of controversy and brought on him cruel attacks. How they excited such hostility must puzzle some readers who do not know Ireland intimately. Suffice it to say that their truthfulness was disliked. Canon Sheehan drew no mythical, idyllic life, pretending that this is the best of all possible worlds. He was not Pangloss in an Irish parish. It was resented that he should draw his own life and environment realistically.

Canon Sheehan was a man of fine and sensitive culture. He was, as it were, over-civilised. The roughness and imperfection around him, and the brute persecution with which ignorance for ever pursues intellect, tortured him. His books seem to be the work of a spirit in agony, seeking an anodyne in literary creation. In "Luke Delmege" he drew a harsh picture of himself. There he depicted a priest of peculiar attainments whose pride and refinement led him through a life of agony, disillusionment and failure. We follow Luke's career, pitying his inability to adapt himself to his environment, although the author makes us almost hate him for his inflexibility, while many passages—to be classed with the best humorous writing ever done in Ireland—paint in the more lovable characteristics of a people with whom Luke failed to find common ground. The chapters in which Canon Sheehan tries to analyse the English mentality are subtle and suggestive, yet reveal an odd incapacity to see the English character with full understanding and sympathy.

"Glenanaar" is chiefly notable for a chapter in which Daniel O'Connell is drawn in the days when, as Counsellor, he was winning the people's adoration; and the account of the ride to Macroom is one of the big things in Irish fiction. "The Graves at Kilmorna," which tells of a Fenian idealist, and how an Irish mob murdered one who loved the people with a wiser love than they knew, is charged with the tragic emotions of a great soul. The fineness and the loneliness of the idealist here are drawn in contrast with the debasement of the mean. It is all piteously true to life. "The Blindness of Dr. Gray" is a tale of mixed marriage. "Lisheen" and "Miriam Lucas" have flashes of the author's best powers, but are poorly constructed and will be read only by enthusiasts. In these books we feel ourselves in the presence of a sad, passionate and loving spirit, and as we read them our vision of Ireland is purged and beautified.

A ROVER'S TALE.

The rover can still find a publisher for the narrative of his wanderings. Mr. Hope was what we all have been in our youth, with the difference that he actually did what parents, prudence and other such mundane considerations make impossible in a majority of cases. Graduating on Stevenson, Kingston, Henty, Jules Verne, Marryat, Gordon Stables and the rest, he determined to live the life depicted by these authors, and this is why he welcomed that letter from the friend who advised him to come to British Columbia. Parents adverted to the security of the city job. Friends stressed the horrors of life in the West, but to no purpose; and in 1907 he found himself sailing away from England for the wild.

His first employment was as a sawyer at Kamloops. The work was terribly hard, even for a hefty youth, and fatal accidents were distressingly frequent. Tired of this occupation, he obtained employment in shovelling snow from the roof of a Canadian Pacific Railway hotel at Glacier, a well-known resort, four thousand feet up in the mountains. When the party first came to the place, two feet of snow were lying on the roof. This was often no more than a night's fall. Forty feet fell throughout the winter. Men engaged at this work had to serve under contract for five months at a time, and to deposit twenty "bucks" as security. "Train jumping" is a delicate art, as the drivers, by clapping on the brakes and other such playful tricks, do all they can to kill votaries of this mode of locomotion. Mr Hope worked his way to Japan and en route became acquainted with a Japanese gentleman, who made him the guest of his family for several weeks of a delightful dolce far niente. Fearing to outstay his welcome, our author worked his way back to Vancouver, and began to display his talents as a super in a drama called "The Holy City."

Soon the lure of the Yukon called him, and, answering, he learnt that with less toil an equal amount of gold might be made by navvying in settlements nearer to civilisation. Returning, he witnessed a rare spectacle in the Lynn Canal, near Skagway—a fight between a thresher shark and a whale. "Time and again the thresher mounted the whale's back, and, raising itself almost perpendicular, brought its powerful tail down with axe-like blows that could be heard a mile away, each time slashing out great pieces of flesh from its opponent, while the surrounding sea ran crimson with blood."

At Seattle, Mr. Hope worked as cartoonist to a "hustler" engaged in boosting real estate. This gentleman had on his desk two telephones, one of which was a dummy. When he wished to impress a client, he would ring himself up by pressing a button under the desk with his foot and begin babbling about ten thousand dollar contracts into the dummy telephone. Needless to say, the author did not miss the Great War, and, although he had to endure the heat of the Persian Gulf, his experiences there were not so painful as many that he had to undergo in days of peace. The book is an obviously truthful account of the life of a wanderer and deserves perusal.

ENGLISH CATHEDRALS.

The history of the Northern Cathedrals of England relies so much upon tradition that these sketches have the flavour of mediæval romance. The writer deals with her wealth of story very happily. It is always apropos, and Mrs. Gostling is as pleasant and instructive a companion whether on the motor tour or in the cathedrals of its itinerary—Ely, Peterborough, Lincoln, York, Ripon, Durham, Chester and Lichfield. Built, as these were, in the teeth of the ravaging Picts and Scots, Danes, Angles, or other Teuton pirates, to the glory of God, their noble proportions are inspiring witnesses in the face of modern foes of religion to the indomitability of faith and aspiration.

The writer does not weary us with descriptions, but very pleasingly sets before us the distinctive features of every cathedral. Thus the glory of York is its painted glass, which is detailed here so that one realises its beauty. It was felt that the women of England could raise no higher memorial to the women who had died for their country in the Great War than the restoration of the "Five Sisters" window in York Cathedral, recently unveiled by Princess Mary. This beautiful work is said to have been designed by five maiden ladies, who worked panels to serve as models for the glass, and presented the complete work—one of the wonders of the world, now sanctified by the generosity of sacrifice, which its restoration commemorates.

The thoroughness of Mrs. Gostling's work is apparent throughout the book, as much in commenting on what she does not see as in what she sees. In Durham Cathedral, which shows somewhat bare of tombs, she stays to tell the reason. The great Bishop William of Sain Carilef, who built it, forbade the interment of his remains within the cathedral. "Never has the body of anyone been brought even for an hour within the place where Saint Cuthbert's incorrupt body reposes, much less has any man been buried here." The Saint himself used even this veneration of his body to continue his works of love and mercy, and appeared to the Abbot, bidding him to command King Guthred to make his church a sure refuge for fugitives, "so that anyone who flies to my body for what cause soever, shall have protection there for thirty-seven days." So the knocker at Durham became one of the greatest sanctuaries of the world.

The book has eight illustrations from photographs by Dr. W. A. Gostling, which are so good that one wishes there had been one of every cathedral, instead of three of Ely, two of Durham, and one apiece of Peterborough, Lincoln, and York.

FITNESS FOR PURPOSE.

The Design and Industries Association holds that "fitness for purpose" is the key to good art. Its year-book is composed mainly of photographs of buildings, furniture, pottery and public decorative work generally, produced during twelve months, with a judicious commentary. The volume before us is as interesting as former volumes, though it contains little that is startling or unusual. It is a pity that it went to press too soon to include a picture of the Epstein memorial to Hudson.

What most strikes the bookman who turns the pages of the Association's volumes is the air of satisfaction with modern artistic tendencies which pervades them. The truth is, probably, that the editor selects for illustration work which conforms to the principle of "fitness for purpose" and passes over masses of less satisfactory art. The upshot is that these books provide patterns which tend to mould artistic opinion. They set the image of good work constantly before the eye of working designers, and their sensible, critical notes help to clarify popular ideas of good and bad craftsmanship. In the 125 plates reproduced this year there are pictures of modern costumes, and we must regret the neglect of this aspect of craftsmanship. Too much space is given to posters which lose in mere half-tone reproduction. The furniture shows little difference from last year. The plates dealing with recent building and railway and road-planning, however, are extremely interesting, and those representing good shop and window dressing should be studied carefully by commercial people.

In a stimulating introduction Mr. John Gloag protests against the modern habit of dividing the mind into "idea-tight compartments," and segregating art from practical affairs and these again from other interests. Good art should pervade all forms of human activity, he says. This book should be missed by nobody who wishes to keep abreast of sane artistic progress and to learn how things modern still may be things beautiful.

THE LAND AND ITS PEOPLE.

Lord Ernle (Roland Prothero) is well known as a writer on agricultural topics. In his latest volume he deals with the problems before British agriculture to-day with his usual thoroughness and in his usual temperate manner. In five historical chapters he traces the transition of English farming from the collective to the individual system—a change inevitable, although accompanied by the loss of much that was fine and characteristic of old-time England. Lord Ernle is an optimist. He believes that in times to come English peasant life will be revived and rendered an important factor in the national system once more; but he points to the measures necessary for the salvation of the farmers from their present difficulties. Lord Ernle looks to science to increase the productivity of the British farm. "It is tillage," he says, "which can profit most and over the widest range by scientific development." Science must supplement the scanty supply of manures by cheap and plentiful artificial fertilisers, must provide "increased control over climate by the use of improved machinery, increased control of soil and of the foods appropriate to plant nutrition." It must perfect the varieties of seeds and must devise the cure or prevention of plant diseases. There is no farmer but will find Lord Ernle's pages absorbing and instructive.

SHIPPING DOCUMENTS.

This handy little volume explains the nature and origin of the four principal documents used in overseas commerce—the invoice, the bill of exchange, the bill of lading and the policy of marine insurance. Many cases are cited, and the practice is brought up to date by including a reference to Customs requirements, even to those of the Irish Free State. The Sea Carriage of Goods Act, 1924, is included. This enactment does not, of course, apply to the Saorstat, but, on account of the large volume of shipping transactions between this country and Britain, a perusal of its provisions is extremely helpful, especially in regard to the coasting trade. The Institute cargo clauses, war risks and conditions for open policies and covers, as commonly used in insurance policies, are appended, together with the Bills of Exchange Act, the Sale of Goods Act and the Marine Insurance Act.

RECENT FICTION.

Sixty years ago there lived in one of the small streets of Whitechapel a family of Jews named Ussher. They had come from North Germany, and previously from Poland. In Germany their name had been Usslemann, but the father had found that "Ussher" slipped more easily from the English tongue. He provided for his family by doing "tailoring repairs." Of this father was born the Jacob of our tale, a young Jew who starts with his barrow in Whitechapel, exhibits to the fullest the acquisitive capacity of his people, advances and becomes one of the men who matter in the city. The old father has doubts about the son's outlook and shakes his head when he hears the young man declare his intention of working on Shabats. The Goys worked, and the Jew had to work if he was to win in the race. Keeping the Yom Kippur fast was feasible; but if he had to sell, he could not postpone the deal because it happened to be the day on which Joshua made the sun stand still. He married an earl's daughter, a shickser woman. No good came of the marriage; for soon she left him for another, a duke. When her family asked that she be given her liberty, the Jewish pride stood to him and she got her wish, but not until she had been branded in the Divorce Court. Now he is a member of the National Liberal Club, very rich, devotedly attached to Leah, his daughter, and proud of his tolerance. At heart he is prouder still of his race and their ability to control. The story centres on Leah and her meeting with Heringham, the younger son of a noble family, penniless, but infatuated with the girl. The book is an excellent study of a strong man.

As good a spy story as one could wish to read is "The Seven Sleepers." The action mostly takes place at Geneva, with the Secretariat of the League of Nations as the scene of startling events. A German secret society, plotting for a tremendous revanche, is crossed by the hero and two gallant secret service agents of France, and a struggle ensues which grows in excitement until the hero penetrates to the home of the supreme embodiment of German hopes—Marshal von Ludenburg, who is drawn unmistakably, and not without sympathy, from the present President of the German Republic.

"That Fool of a Woman" and the four other stories which Millicent Sutherland has collected under this title are of an unusual kind, and show great originality both in choice of theme and in treatment. "Mr. Leonid" is a study in which the tension created by personality and atmosphere is almost uncanny; and in "The Man Who Saw" a similar tension is maintained by quite different means. The author is an impressionist. Her descriptive passages flash like lightning across the pages, and serve as a vivid background to the strange characters that she has created.

Mr. Stuart Christie first introduced us to Sarah Pender in "Young Experience," where we saw her make her first bid for freedom and a taste of "real life." In "Gay Application" we meet Sarah again. Her wings are now fully grown; she has broken away from her husband, and she embarks upon a veritable sea of adventures which afford the author ample scope for the display of his ironic interpretation of character. Sarah is a demure and somewhat unscrupulous woman, but she is both human and attractive, and her fate soon becomes of very real interest to the reader.

The universal game is lawn tennis, and one of its devotees, Sybil Dennis, nearly sacrifices her married happiness to the following thereof. Mr. Holloway Horn claims that this is a "story of pleasant people," and he gives us very pleasant descriptions of hard-fought tournaments, and just a little anxiety as to how quiet Hugh Dennis's resentment against the game that obsesses his wife will manifest itself. A more agreeable pair, perhaps, are Hilary, Sybil's sister, and her lover, a whimsical writer of short stories, who can play a waiting game.

INTERNATIONAL BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

WALES TOO STRONG FOR IRELAND.

England retrieved their position by defeating Scotland in the International Bowling Tournament at Llandrindod Wells yesterday by 98 shots to 88. It was a much-improved side than that beaten by Wales, and, obtaining the lead at the outset, they retained it to win by 10 shots.

Wales gained a comfortable victory over Ireland, and now lead with two wins, as against England's one and Scotland's one, Ireland having failed to win a match.

Against Ireland Wales took the lead from the outset, and, increasing it as the game progressed, eventually won by 119 shots to 81.

Aldershot Horse Show concluded last evening, when Lady Chetwode presented the prizes. The King's Cup for the best British horse was won by Captain Townsend, Royal Army Veterinary Corps, with Foxy Lad. Captain Bizaid, French Army, on Pantin, was the winner of the international jumping competition.

THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE.

Our Lismore Correspondent states that the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, who have been at their Irish seat, Lismore Castle, for the past three months, left Lismore last night for Chatsworth. The Duke of Devonshire has made a good recovery from his recent illness, and for some weeks past was to be seen walking in the district on fine days. The tenantry on the estate and the people of West Waterford express much pleasure that His Grace has so far recovered as to be able to undertake the journey to England.

The Judicial Proceedings (Regulation of Reports) Bill, introduced by Lord Darling in the House of Lords on Monday last, the text of which was issued yesterday, is identical with Sir Evelyn Cecil's bill of the same title, which has been for some time awaiting second reading in the House of Commons. In view of the congestion in the Lower House, it is introduced in the Lords in the hope that it will get a second reading there and be sent to a Committee for examination and amendment.

The Egyptian Premier, Ahmed Pasha Ziwar, will arrive in London next Wednesday for a fortnight's holiday.

The Government has intervened in the mine crisis.—(Page 5.)

Lombard street is now well supplied with funds, and day-to-day loans were made at 3¼ per cent. Discount rates were easier.—(Page 9.)

Dublin Stock Market was irregular. National Loan receded to 94⅝ and Guinness to 64 1-16. Bank of Ireland, on the increased interim dividend, rose to 280. Nationals fell 5-16 to 20¼.—(Page 9.)

The Moroccan Campaign.

The change in the attitude of the French Socialists indicates that the campaign against Abdel Krim is developing into a serious war. Throughout the last few weeks they have been criticising the Government in the most irritating way, calling for a peace conference, objecting to the despatch of reinforcements, and generally embarrassing M. Painlevé and his colleagues as much as was possible. Yesterday, however, they disclosed a far more reasonable frame of mind. Apparently, the Socialists have come to recognise the fact that the Colonial Empire of France is at stake in Morocco; and there is little doubt now that the Government will get the 150,000,000 francs which it is demanding from the Chamber in support of the operations against the Riffs. The military situation is still obscure. A rigid censorship prevents an accurate survey of the campaign; but it is quite clear that the Riffs have been making considerable headway during the past few weeks. All the women and children have been taken from Taza, one of the most important positions in the French zone, inasmuch as it controls the principal railway in the country. The main road to Fez has been exposed to grave danger, and the attempts by the Spanish Government to secure British help in the protection of the neutral Tangier zone suggests that doubts are entertained concerning its safety. During the last few days there has been very heavy fighting in the neighbourhood of Taza. The French have made a strong counter-offensive, which, according to the latest reports from Paris, has met in some ways with marked success. Spahis have been employed in more or less open warfare for the first time in the campaign, and their élan has wrought havoc among Abdel Krim's irregular levies. Nevertheless, the Riffian troops are fighting with reckless bravery. They are led by officers who seem to have an admirable intelligence service and to be able to anticipate every French move with disconcerting accuracy. In spite of excellent staff work, the French hitherto have failed to dislodge them from their fortified positions in the Ouergan area.

The French took forty years to subjugate Algeria, and consequently have no lack of experience in African warfare. The Riffian problem, however, is more serious than any of the other problems that have faced the French Government in that part of the world. In the old days the fight was generally against untrained savages, who had no idea either of strategy or of tactics, and conducted their campaigns in the most rudimentary way. The Riffs, on the other hand, are modern soldiers, almost as well trained as the French themselves, equally brave, and far more enthusiastic than their adversaries. Furthermore, they possess a great asset in their mobility. Transport does not worry them, their commissariat is slung round their necks, and they know every inch of the difficult country in which they are fighting. The French are defending a four hundred mile front against an enemy who combines the fanaticism of a Mahdi with the elusiveness of a de Wet. They are surrounded by tribes whose loyalty is not worth twenty-four hours' purchase; and they are hampered in their plans by the fact that they have not yet been able to conclude arrangements with the Spanish Government which will enable them to use bombing aeroplanes against the Riffian concentrations in the Spanish zone. The new Commander-in-Chief, General Naulin, will arrive in Fez on July 18th. Until that date no decisive action can be expected, but there is a general desire in France that the war shall be ended without delay. Large reinforcements will be necessary before that object can be attained, and in the meanwhile it is essential that the French Government shall publish the terms on which it is prepared to make peace with Abdel Krim. According to well-informed sources M. Painlevé is ready to acknowledge the virtual independence of the Riffian tribes, subject only to the general suzerainty of Sultan Mulai Yusef; but no official statement has been made on the matter. Until a definite pronouncement has been made the French cause will be bound to suffer; and, in view of the unpatriotic attitude of the Communists in the Chamber, no further time ought to be lost in the publication of reasonable terms of peace.

School Attendance and Irish.

The Free State Government proposes to find a further and admirable use for the Civic Guard. We announced yesterday that, in accordance with a recent pledge, the Government will introduce a school attendance bill during the autumn session of Parliament. Existing school attendance committees will be abolished, save in eight county boroughs and urban districts. Elsewhere throughout the country the Civic Guard will be the enforcing authority. Regular school attendance will be made compulsory on all children between the ages of six and fourteen; the proof of legitimate excuse for absence will rest upon the parents; and any employment which deprives a child under the age of fourteen of "proper benefit from attendance at school" will be made illegal. If a parent, after due warning, continues to keep his children away from school or to connive at their absence, a district court may order him to pay fines to the amount of forty shillings. The Government's bill is over-due; for much of the recent effort to improve public education has been defeated by the paucity of attendance at the national schools. Even under the old régime the percentage of attendance at the Irish schools fell lamentably below the averages for England and Scotland. During the disorders of the last few years innumerable obstacles were created, and a temper of slackness and indiscipline was bred in children and parents alike. It has survived into our present days of peace, with the result that satisfactory standards of school attendance can be restored—or rather, initiated—only by such strong and definite regulations as the promised measure will impose. As the enforcing authority the Civic Guard ought to be a more efficient body than the doomed committees. It is likely to have a minute knowledge of the conditions of most households in the rural districts. Already its members have won popular esteem by the conscientious fulfilment of their duties, and we do not doubt that experience will endow them with the tact for which the old Royal Irish Constabulary were famous. It is a pity that a reform so healthy and necessary as compulsory school attendance must be involved in the odium of compulsory Irish. A couple of years ago the critic of that Procrustean movement could be assailed, with some plausibility, as a "West Briton." To-day, if he is "anti-Irish," the bulk of his fellow-citizens are "anti-Irish," too; for throughout the whole country—especially among parents of the farming class—there is a growing revolt against the tyranny of Irish in the schools. Why should a parent be compelled to send his children to a school where they will be compelled to neglect a bread-and-butter education? If school attendance is so important for the children, why should the school be closed for a whole month while the teachers are being crammed with Irish at an annual cost of £66,000 to the impoverished taxpayer? Nobody can describe the Bishop of Cashel as "anti-Irish," and we believe that his calmly-worded protest, which we print to-day, will be endorsed by an overwhelming majority of Irish parents and teachers of all classes and creeds.

A Students' Movement.

To-day at Swanwick, Derbyshire, will begin the first of the annual general summer conferences of the Student Christian Movement of Great Britain and Ireland. This body is composed of young men who are full of life's enthusiasms and whose energy is still unabated. It is not undenominational, but inter-denominational—that is to say, all creeds and sects can find in it a common meeting-place. Again, the Student Christian Movement embraces the whole of student life. There are, approximately, 50,000 students in the United Kingdom, of whom more than 10,000, spread over 260 unions, are members of the Student Christian Movement. The Student Christian Movement of Great Britain and Ireland is itself a member of the World's Student Christian Federation, to which no fewer than twenty national movements are affiliated. There are, in addition, individual Christian unions in twenty other countries, which, as they develop, will join the general organisation. The total membership of the Federation is over 250,000. A world-wide organisation, a quarter of a million strong and composed of the intellectual élite of the world, can work wonders. Two may be noted. There is—though not under direct Christian auspices—the Confédération des Etudiants, a body which, through the National Union of Students, already has been of enormous value in co-ordinating student thought and helping students to travel abroad. Again, 13,068 members of the different movements in the Federation have sailed as foreign missionaries—a figure which represents about half the entire staff of the Protestant missionaries in the non-Christian world. Last year thirty-six different nationalities were represented at Swanwick, and it is no unusual experience to find, on reaching one's tent, that one is the sole representative of one's race or even colour. The Movement has numerous branches in Ireland, and more than fifteen are situated in or near Dublin. Their membership is increasing rapidly and is attracting the best of our athletes and scholars. This is the day of youth, and a world still disillusionized by the aftermath of war will follow with keen interest the doings of the Student Christian Movement during the next few years.

Game Protection.

At a meeting in Dublin yesterday the Leinster Branch of the National Game Protection Association decided to appoint a committee to consider the question of amalgamation with the Irish Game Protection Association. Colonel Hely Hutchinson, who was in the chair, laid stress on the benefit to the country of one strong organisation for the protection of game, and everybody who is interested in Irish sport will agree with him. During recent years wars and civil disturbances have played havoc with the work of game protection in Ireland. Poaching has become almost a national industry, "close" seasons have been ignored, and the country's game has suffered heavy losses. It is high time that its protection should be organised on a really efficient scale, and we are glad to learn that a bill for the better regulation of the game laws is on the Government stocks. With proper care Ireland's game could become an extremely valuable asset to the country, and the prospects of good shooting would attract many wealthy visitors from Britain and the United States. The poacher is the greatest enemy of the country's good name in this respect. Just as he has done his best to ruin the salmon fisheries, he is destroying the country's game preserves and denuding them of their valuable birds. During the last ten years almost irreparable damage has been done. The Irish people, for some unknown reason, always have had a sneaking sympathy with the poacher, and we fear that the authorities in the past have been inclined to be far too lenient with him. We may hope that in the future the Civic Guard will enforce the law with the strictest impartiality. The raising of the price of game licences already has had a good effect, but there still is a certain amount of laxity on the part of the authorities which ought to be remedied without delay.

RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS.

VIEWS OF ENGLISH CHURCH ASSEMBLY.

The Church Assembly at Westminster yesterday considered the second report of the Education Commission, which contained far-reaching proposals for religious instruction in schools and training colleges, outside those concerned with technical education.

In moving that the Commission reconsider its report with a view to later presentation, after relating to it proposals from certain education authorities, the Bishop of Wakefield maintained that criticism had established that it was not altogether a practicable policy at present to press upon the Church, though he thought that they had the support of almost the whole body of Nonconformists in their agreement upon separate religious instruction, subject to a conscience clause in the case of State-aided establishments.

In the ensuing discussion, Lord Hugh Cecil said that in sending back the report they did not want it watered down.

The Bishop of Gloucester suggested that the time was ripe for the appointment of a comprehensive Commission to consider the whole question of education.

The Bishop of Manchester advocated free consultation with the education authorities in regard to their reasonable claims.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, who presided, pointed out that the object of sending the report back to the Commission was to see whether, in view of events since it was drafted, they could not suggest possible arrangements between the local education authorities and the managements of voluntary schools which would be workable, and produce a settlement.

The motion was put, and carried.

COMPENSATION CLAIMS.

LORD SELBORNE'S MOTION.

The adjourned debate on Lord Selborne's motion, asking what steps His Majesty's Government propose to take to give effect to "repeated pledges" of successive British Governments that the claims of Irish loyalists should be equitably met, and asking that a Committee of Inquiry be appointed by His Majesty's Government on the question of compensation claims, will take place in the House of Lords on next Wednesday afternoon, and the following "whip" has been issued to the Peers:—

"You are urgently requested to be present on Wednesday, July 15, at 3.45 p.m., on the occasion of the adjourned debate on the motion moved by Lord Selborne on July 2 as to the payment of fair compensation to Irish loyalists for injury to person or property.

DUBLIN TRAMWAYS LEASE.

PUBLIC INQUIRY SUGGESTED.

That a public inquiry should be held by an Inspector of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, or the Local Government Department, into the situation created by the closing down of the Lucan tramway and the proposal that the Dublin United Tramways Company should be granted an extension of its lease (which, under present arrangements, expires thirteen years hence), was one of the suggestions put forward by the deputation which waited on President Cosgrave recently, an Irish Times representative learnt from Dr. Lorcan Sherlock yesterday.

Dr. Sherlock, who is interested in the matter through his connection with Hermitage Golf Club, pointed out that, in view of the Dublin City Commissioners' statement to the Tramways Company that they could not take the responsibility of granting an extension of the lease, neither the company nor the Commissioners could well ask for such an inquiry, which was, nevertheless, in his opinion, to be desired.

The traffic immediately in prospect on the Lucan line would not support running costs, Dr. Sherlock stated, even if the Tramways Company could work the line without undertaking capital expenditure; but a capital expenditure of £70,000 would be necessary for alteration of gauge and so on before the company could work the line efficiently in conjunction with its existing system. That expenditure would not be justified unless the company had a considerably longer lease of the city lines in prospect.

Dr. Sherlock believes that President Cosgrave personally agrees that the situation might well be reviewed at this stage, in view of the change in conditions governing the matter since the original term of the company's lease was fixed.

FUTURE OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Earl of Oxford and Asquith distributed prizes yesterday in connection with the Foundation Day celebration at Mill Hill School.

Public schools in these days, he said, were subject to new conditions, which, if they were not very carefully watched, would be found to hamper their work and utility. The cost of education was rising, and a large number of that class of parent from whom they used to receive their most valuable recruits in the shape of schoolboys—that was, the professional class—were suffering a shrinkage in their income. That made it very difficult, for they wanted to maintain and, if possible, enlarge that particular clientele. How was it going to be done? Not, he hoped, by any appeal to the taxpayer. There was only one thing that he knew of that could be done, and that was to revive the era and the activities of the "Pious Founder."

ARMY EXAMINATIONS.

Among the officers who were successful in the examination for promotion held in April, were the following:—

Captain G. S. Rowley and Lieutenant T. G. Watson, King's Royal Irish Hussars; Lieutenant J. F. Ross, Irish Guards; Lieutenant R. E. Fitzgerald Brabazon, M.C., and Lieutenant J. E. A. Baird, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers; Captain (Brevet Major) G. B. Lee, Captain M. J. Eastwood, M.C., Lieutenant H. S. Dean, M.C., Lieutenant N. O'D. IRISH PICTURES.

MR. M. MacLIAMMOIR'S EXHIBITION.

Mr. Michael MacLiammoir's exhibition of pictures at 7 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, reveals considerable versatility, both in choice of subjects and treatment.

"The Moon in the Water" and "The Grey Lake" are not, at a first glance, striking pictures, but both bear examination better than some of the more ambitious efforts. "Clouds in the Water" is a beautiful little picture, of the decorative panel order. "The Fair," and several other pictures, with peasant figures, differ so much in colouring and execution from the rest of the exhibits as to suggest the work of quite another type of artist.

In "The Lament of Deirdre for Naoise" the light effect is weird and striking, but is achieved in quite faint colouring. "Deirdre in the Wood" and "Malaguena" (a traditional Spanish dance) both show a promising self-confidence in treatment; the former is one of the best pictures shown.

The exhibition, on the whole, is well worth a visit. In the 58 pictures, which include some clever black and white work, there is such variety that most people will find something to suit their individual tastes.

MOUNTSTEWART GARDEN PARTY

LORD AND LADY LONDONDERRY ENTERTAIN UNIONISTS.

The guests were received by Lord and Lady Londonderry, and refreshments were provided on the lawns. During the afternoon music was supplied by the band of the Royal Ulster Constabulary and Edenderry Brass and Reed Prize Band.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

BRITISH POLICY IN INDIA.

CONSTITUTIONAL PROBLEM.

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.
WESTMINSTER, Thursday.

The debate on India in the Commons this evening was robbed of a good deal of its interest by the fact that Lord Birkenhead, in the House of Lords on Tuesday, had pretty well covered the whole ground. The Under Secretary, Earl Winterton, had, as a consequence, a comparatively easy task, and he wisely left it to the Opposition to open the discussion.

A start was made by Colonel Wedgwood, who has made the study of Indian questions his particular hobby. No one was at all surprised that he should approach the subject of our policy in India from the point of view of Labour. Democratic self-government was his theme, and that, he asserted, could only be attained by teaching the Indians the value of freedom and self-respect. He had little that was good to say of the Government of India Act. In his own words, it was staggering along. In fact, it was a marvel to him that it should be moving at all. It had no friends. The tragedy of the India Act was the attitude towards it of both the Indian and British peoples. The hon. member quoted freely from Lord Birkenhead's speech, and endorsed his warning to the extremists. Non-co-operation had been the curse of India, but the fault had been on both sides.

FRIENDLY CO-OPERATION.

The best advice he could give to the Government was to encourage friendly co-operation in the direction of training Indians in the principles of self-government. That training was not being given, though it was the main intention of the Government of India Act. Another matter on which he found himself in entire agreement with the Secretary of State was the surprisingly liberal offer to the leaders of thought in India, to put on paper their views as to the sort of Constitution they wanted. There was no earthly reason why the present Constitution should remain unrevised until 1929. He insisted upon the importance of education, of social reforms, and of the lowering of the electorate. Further, trade unionism should be given the same liberties as in this country.

Sir Alfred Mond characterised the Government of India Act as the greatest experiment in introducing self-government among inexperienced people that has ever been tried. It was no wonder that difficulties arose; but they need not necessarily be discouraged. The unchangeable East, which had never really been unchangeable, was going through most rapid mental changes. He urged the importance of improving the economic conditions in India. Such a step would do a great deal more good for political pacification than "chewing" over different sections of the India Act.

A WORD FOR THE ACT.

Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, who divides his interests between education and India, defended the Act, which had been so widely criticised. He said that it was launched under the most unfavourable conditions, and it had really not been given a fair trial. He did not object to the Constitution's being amended in details, but it should be given a further chance before there was any question of a large and comprehensive Constitutional change. Non-co-operators, he declared, did not represent the best part of the political mind of India, but was merely a passing phase of angry emotion.

Lord Winterton, at the outset of his reply, desired to remove any chance of misunderstanding in regard to what had been described as Lord Birkenhead's offer to India. His noble friend, he said, had not invited proposals for a new Constitution. The idea was that at some time there would have to be a revision of the present system, and if, in the meantime, proposals were put forward by Indians themselves which had a general measure of agreement among the people, those proposals would be carefully considered when the time came.

He then passed on to deal with various aspects of Indian administration, and concluded by stigmatising as a traversty of history the assertion made in some quarters that India had not benefited greatly by British rule.

The only point made by Mr. Saklatvala worth mentioning was his open confession that he was at the bottom of many of the Communist manifestos which had been circulated in India. The House, well acquainted with the hon member's opinions, treated this admission with almost complete silence.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald expressed his regret that misunderstanding had arisen in reference to Lord Birkenhead's statement. Undoubtedly the impression was left in the minds of people at home and in India that when he invited the production of constitutional schemes it meant that the Government was prepared to examine them immediately. He hoped, however, that the modified statement still meant, in substance, that the Government was ready to consider any reasonable plan that was brought forward. He hoped that the Government would make it perfectly clear that the allegation that British official representations on the various legislative councils were out of sympathy with legislation to imprive industrial conditions were not true and would issue such instructions as were necessary. Like wise people, we must, said Mr. Macdonald, guard India as we would our own children.

The debate was adjourned.

OBITUARY.

MAJOR-GENERAL THOMAS BLAND STRANGE.

Major-General Thomas Bland Strange, late Royal Artillery, died yesterday at his residence, Georaghmeen, Camberley, Surrey, aged 93. He served in the Indian Mutiny, being present at the seige and capture of Lucknow. He became Commandant of the Fortress of Quebec, and commanded the Alberta Field Force. He fought the action of Frenchman's Butte, defeating the Cree Indian chief, Big Bear, for which he received the thanks of the Canadian Government. Owing to his Imperialistic views, he was known in the army as "Gunner Jingo."

SENATOR DE VEBER.

The death is announced of Senator De Veber, at the age of 76, at Aylmer, Quebec. Upon the creation of the province of Alberta in 1905 he entered the Cabinet as Minister without portfolio, but resigned on being summoned to the Senate.

The Hon. Leverett George De Veber was educated at King's College, Windsor, and St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London. He sat as member of the Canadian Parliament from 1898 to 1906, in which latter year he was appointed Senator.

MR. JAMES MANFIELD.

Mr. James Manfield, head of the firm of Manfield and Sons, Ltd., boot manufacturers, Northampton, died at his London residence yesterday. Mr. Manfield was a member of the Northampton Town Council and County Council for many years, and had been Mayor of the borough. Not long ago he gave his Northampton residence and grounds, valued at £100,000, for the purpose of a hospital for crippled children.

DEATH OF A GERMAN ASTRONOMER.

BERLIN, Thursday.

Professor Gustav Meuller, a former director of the Astro-Physical Observatory of Potsdam, and a member of the British Astronomical Society, has died here, at the age of 75.—(Reuter.)

BRITISH PICTORIAL ART.

Addressing the British Museums Conference, which concluded at Exeter yesterday, on the proper function of the National Art Gallery, Mr. E. Rimbault Dirdiu advocated the removal of all British pictures from the Trafalgar square building to the Tate Gallery. An adequate collection of native art in one building might then be available for foreign visitors, and the Millbank institution authorities might be less inclined to indulge in temporary exhibitions of so-called advanced art, which made one wonder whether it was not a symptom of disease preceding total dissolution of pictorial art.

CLERICAL APPOINTMENT.

The Board of Nomination for the Parish of Tallow and Kilwatermoy, Diocese of Lismore, met in the Diocesan Registry, Waterford, on Tuesday and appointed the Rev. James Williamson Camier, who has been Rector of Templeport, Bawnboy, Co. Cavan, since 1920, to the Parish.

LONDON LETTER.

THE COAL DISPUTE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

Now that the Government, apparently, has been successful in bringing about a meeting between the parties to the coal dispute, the situation is regarded as being more hopeful, but, should the negotiations between the owners and the miners break down, it is thought that the Minister of Labour may exercise his prerogative and institute a court of inquiry. It would be a comparatively easy matter to find the right men for such a court, but a drawback is that there already have been two inquiries within a short space of time. An inquiry, however, would do much to bring real facts before the public and thus help it to understand a very difficult and intricate position. Both sides would have a full opportunity of proving their arguments and presenting their facts in marshalled order. The sooner the parties come to a realisation of the position the better for themselves and the country. It was made perfectly clear in the course of the debate last night that the industry need not wait to make peace until it receives a subsidy from the Government. There will no subsidy for the coal trade.

Some members of the House of Commons were complaining because the Government did not intervene in the coal dispute, but it is to be feared that these members did not fully realise the situation. The dispute is an economic one. The miners produce a certain amount of coal at a price which does not pay. The coalowner, consequently, cannot run his colliery at a profit, and is, in fact, in the generality of cases suffering a loss. The two parties must come together to find a way out of the difficulty. The miner must be prepared to give better value for his wage, and the owner must be content with a smaller profit until things are better. The Government, whatever it may do, cannot alter these circumstances; for they are basic, and intervention is useless. The opinion, however, is that the owners and the miners will be able to come to terms before the end of the month and that there will be no strike. The best solution to the whole trouble would be a return to the eight-hour day, which would ensure more profit for the owner and better wages for the men.

Hard-Worked Politicians.

The postponement of the Rating and Valuation Bill with the Tithes Bill rather suggests that the Government intends to have an autumn sitting, and not a new session as generally expected. In the Lobby this evening members rather inclined to this view, simply because the Rating and Valuation Bill is a measure of considerable importance and may need somewhat lengthy discussion in the House. Members were inclined, however, to betray impatience and showed anxiety to secure an early closing down of the present sittings. Complaint is made of the long hours and the work in the Committee rooms, and, as one member remarked to me, "it is not all lavender being a member of the House of Commons."

China and the Powers.

Now that the French Government has been successful in passing the Bill to ratify the Washington Treaty with regard to China, it is anticipated that the ratifications by the various Powers will be deposited in Washington shortly. The Treaty will then come into operation, and the way will be cleared for the Tariffs Conference, which the British Government believes will provide an opportunity for promoting co-operation with China. With regard to the further Treaty, signed at Washington, providing for a Commission to inquire into the abolition of extra-territoriality, this body has not yet been set up owing to a request from the Chinese Government that it should be postponed, and also on representations from the other Powers concerned because a revolution is in progress in the country.

France's Man-Power.

France would very much like to secure a number of our finest and most virile young men, and to do this is reviving an offer made some time ago to provide work and houses for unemployed in the industries experiencing a labour shortage in the country. The fact is that France is becoming anxious with regard to the future, and recognises that a constantly falling birth-rate will end in a lack of man-power. If young Englishmen or young foreigners of any nationality can be attracted, France will absorb them and be very glad to do so. In the circumstances it is probable that the offer will not receive a very widespread acceptance; for it virtually means expatriation.

Dole Abuses.

In deciding that the administration and finance of the Unemployment Insurance Act shall be inquired into by a committee, which will include representatives of the employers, employés and taxpayers, the Government has taken a step to which no objection can be made. There is little doubt that there have been serious abuses of the benefits of the Act, and there is an impression that they are continuing to increase. An inquiry composed of the three parties who contribute to the funds in question should be able to point out the loopholes which permit those for whom work is available to draw the "dole" in idleness.

London's Atmosphere.

The atmosphere of London is an expensive burden. Fog causes delay, with a resulting loss of money; extra lighting entails still further expenditure, and, last but not least, it has an injurious effect on the health of the public. To the list of iniquities attributed to the weather must be added another—that it has the power of decaying buildings. St. Paul's Cathedral and Waterloo Bridge are being replaced, and now the experts state that it will cost a million pounds to safeguard the Houses of Parliament; for the air, apparently, has a chemical action on the stone which causes it to crumble. The buildings at Westminster have not yet celebrated their seventieth birthday.

Irish Reunion.

It is, perhaps, a trifle late to refer again to the dinner given to the Duke of York at the Irish Club on Monday last, but I am told that the proceedings have had a really excellent effect on Irishmen in London, who have been taking a very deep interest in the affair. That there is a firmly-rooted desire for a peaceful settlement in Ireland among Irish people in London is only natural, since they have to live here and to listen to all that the English have to say on this matter. Satisfaction is general among them that their opinions have been so forcibly expressed by such people as the speakers at the Irish Club dinner. The hope expressed on your side that the function may break the ice is re-echoed in Irish circles here.

Legislation in Luxury.

The Chamber of the House of Lords is a gorgeous one, but the benches of red morocco have become faded with wear and time, and the question is whether they shall be replaced with real leather or an imitation. The House of Commons had its benches recovered last year, and there was a great discussion whether the skins were British or made in Germany, and ultimately it was stated that they were of Empire production. It is probable that the Peers will be provided with seats covered with real morocco, and that the contract will be one of considerable value. The work will start directly after the rising of Parliament, and will be expedited in view of an autumn sitting.

IRISH RAILWAY WAGES.

N.U.R. DECISION

"CUTS TOO DRASTIC TO BE ENTERTAINED."

LONDON MEETING.

The Executive of the National Union of Railwaymen, at their meeting at Unity House, Euston road, London, yesterday afternoon, had under consideration the proposals of the Irish railway companies for reductions in rates of pay.

After a long discussion in private, i was officially announced that the proposals, the details of which have already been published, were found to be of such a drastic nature that they could not b entertained.

Prior to the meeting of the N.U.R., the Executive of the Union and the representatives of the managers of the Irish railways met at the Midland Grand Hotel, S Pancras, London, when the N.U.R. Executive were presented with the proposals by the Irish railway managers with reference to the conditions of the railwaymen in Ireland.

As stated in yesterday's Irish Times Mr. M. F. Keogh, general manager of th Great Southern Railways Company, an Senator Bagwell, general manager of th Great Northern Railway Company (Ireland), left Kingstown for London o Wednesday night.

THE PROPOSALS.

The proposal for a reduction of fiv shillings a week in the wages of all grade of Irish railway workers, other tha station-masters, supervisors, male an female clerks, drivers, firemen an cleaners was submitted to the Irish Railway Wages Board last May. It wa stated that the total number of me affected would be 13,000, and the saving t the companies by the reduction would b £183,000 per annum, or about 9 per cent of the 1924 wages bill.

It was suggested by the companies tha the reduction should be effected in tw instalments—2s. 6d. immediately an 2s. 6d. after a lapse of three months—o the wages of porters, guards, plate-layers shunters, signalmen, etc.

THE RAILWAY CASE.

The three grounds of justification fo the proposed reduction were stated at th inquiry to be:—

1—The present wages of unskilled railwa workers, such as porters and plate layers, were much higher than th nature of their work justified. Th railway workers were largely recruite from agricultural labourers. Th highest rate paid to an agricultura labourer was in County Dublin, whe the figure was 39s. per week in th part near the city. In the county outside that area the rate was 34s. 6d. while throughout the rest of Ireland the men were employed at a rate o 25s. a week, and in some instance as low as 20s per week. Railwayme worked shorter hours, had a guarantee week's pay, and, by reason of th higher payment for night and Sunday duty and overtime, most of the earned more than the standard rate o pay, to the extent of 3s. 10d. per ma per week; while, in addition, they a enjoy travel facilities, holidays wit pay, and many of them uniform clothing, the monetary equivalent of the advantages being at the very leas 1s. 6d. per man per week.

2—That the increases of the pre-war rate of the railwaymen were markedly ou of proportion to the increase in th cost of living. The last published r turns gave the latter as 95 per cent and 73 per cent. over pre-war in th Irish Free State and Northern Irelan respectively. While railwaymen ha received over the pre-war remuneratio the cost of an hour's output had i creased.

	Hours. Worked.	Wage.	Cost of Outp per Hour.
1913 ...	60	17/10	0/3½
1925 ...	46	50/10	1/0¾

The third ground was the financial position of the railway companies.

Mr. C. T. Cramp, the Secretary of th N.U.R., declared that the proposal, accepted, would create the greatest di satisfaction, and, if put into force, the would have the greatest disturbances o the railways since the war terminated.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

NO DIVIDENDS FOR FORTY YEARS.

The Court of the Irish Railway Tribuna consisting of Judge D. J. O'Brien, K.C (presiding), and Messrs. John R. Kerr, C.E and Henry J. Mange.., sat yesterday in th City Hall, Dublin, to consider the questio of the absorption of the Southern Railwa Company (the line which runs betwee Thurles and Clonmel) by the Great Souther Railways Company.

Mr. E. J. Phelps, K.C., and Mr. E. Kelly (instructed by Mr. E. White, solicito appeared for the Great Southern Railway Company.

Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C. (instructed b Mr. Coll, solicitor), appeared for the Commissioners of Public Works.

Judge O'Brien said that the Southern Railway Co. stood in a very different position t all the other absorbed companies. For th last forty years the undertaking had been i possession of the Commissioners of Publi Works as mortgagors. It would appear tha the Commissioners made three advance secured by mortgages.

Apart from those incumbrances there woul appear to be several others.

The undertaking of the absorbed compan since 1873 had been, under a working agreement in perpetuity, worked by the Waterfor and Limerick Railway Co., and by the Grea Southern and Western Railway Co. as successors. Under the working agreement th absorbed company was to receive 40 per cent of the gross receipts, and since 1885, whe the Commissioners of Public Works entere into possession, they had been in receipt o the absorbed company's share of the gro receipts, which they had applied in payme of interest due to them, and in part payme of the capital. It would appear that the was now due to the Commissioners £41,50 interest having been paid up to Decemb 31, 1924.

They gathered that apart from the Commissioners of Public Works, no incumbranc or holder of shares had received any intere or dividend for the last 40 years, and if th statement was correct, no liability of th absorbed company in respect of such intere or arrears of dividends, would now be tran ferred to the amalgamating company. Sin the last hearing the Registrar had issue advertisements for claims from any incu brancer or holder of securities, but had r ceived none.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that the position o the Board of Works was that they we clearly entitled to be transferred as an exis ing encumbrancer.

Mr. W. McInerney, accountant to th Commissioners of Public Works, said th there was still £41,500 due to the Commi sioners on the Southern Railway undertakin

Mr. Phelps said that the Great Souther Railways Company should not be asked undertake liabilities that were not put fo ward.

The Tribunal then adjourned to prepare scheme.

TEACHING OF IRISH.

ALTERNATIVE POLICY TO COMPULSION.

BISHOP OF CASHEL'S VIEWS.

Presiding yesterday at the annual meeting of the Synod of the Diocese of Cashel and Emly, the Right Rev. Dr. Miller made an important statement on the Free State Government's educational policy.

He declared that the country was in urgent need of commercial and technical education, and that the undue amount of time spent in primary schools upon the Irish language was defeating its own object. Education, which meant bread and butter, was a matter of the highest importance to Irish boys and girls, and the principle of compulsion, when it could not be reconciled with that main object of education, must fail.

The Bishop suggested that before every boy and girl was compelled to learn Irish the Government should take steps to concentrate the attention of scholars upon the editing of Irish manuscripts, and to give the language an attractive literature. That, he believed, would be the more certain way of giving the language its due place in the national life.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

MORE TIME FOR "BREAD AND BUTTER SUBJECTS."

The Bishop dealt with diocesan affairs and then spoke on education. "We have received generous treatment from the Government regarding our small schools," he said, "and we are thankful. The Ministry of Education are dealing wisely in asking for the opinions of public bodies as to the programme of subjects to be taught in National schools. When these opinions have been received and carefully considered, the Ministry will be able to form the soundest judgment upon this vitally important question.

"Regarding subjects which ought to be made compulsory, it is simply a question as to which is most essential, in order to qualify our young people for their positions in life. Evidence abounds in Ireland that we need commercial and technical education. We have not yet reached a sufficient level of commercial progress in this country to give work to all Irish boys and girls. Therefore, they have to go out to other countries to earn their living. This is a further reason why their attention should be concentrated upon those subjects which will enable them to compete on level terms with the younger generation of other countries.

FIXED OPINION.

"One of the subjects upon which our opinion has been asked is the Irish language; and our friendly but fixed opinion is that the subject should be treated in a different way to that which is proposed. It cannot be denied that the general interest in the progress of the Irish language is not increasing. The attendance at voluntary classes has decreased within the past three years to a very great degree. We can, therefore, quite understand the feelings of devoted advocates of the language in demanding that compulsion shall be applied in all primary and intermediate schools.

"The question is: Can their object be attained through compulsion? Take the case of very junior children in National schools from the minimum age of three to eight years. It is very doubtful whether any person of weight in the educational world would recommend compulsory methods to be applied. In the case of children older in years, who are capable of learning a second language, we hold that if the principle of compulsion is applied, it should only be for such time per day as will not seriously interfere with the subjects which qualify them for positions in life in which they will earn a livelihood. This applies also to intermediate schools.

"At present the undue amount of time spent in primary schools upon the Irish language is defeating its own object. We are not a wealthy people. Education, which means bread and butter, is a matter of the highest importance to Irish boys and girls, and the principle of compulsion, when it cannot be reconciled with this main object of education, must fail.

ALTERNATIVE POLICY.

"Behind the desire to make the Irish language universal in this country there is undoubtedly a deep love for Irish nationality. We can understand and appreciate this feeling when it does not imply antagonism to any other nation. The supporters of this reasonable desire may say to us: What is your policy if you do not approve of the policy of compulsion? We are strongly of opinion, for the reasons already expressed, that the principle of compulsion, if applied at all, should only affect children capable of learning a second language, and in their case only to such an extent as will not prevent adequate attention to, what circumstances have made, more important subjects.

"There is another and more fundamental point to be considered, viz., the literature which at present attaches to the language. We may reasonably ask this question: In a country where a language is spoken other than Irish, and in a commercial world where Irish cannot be used, is it possible to make the language universally sought after without an attractive literature behind it? We are strongly of the opinion that it is not, and this points the way to a more slow, but more certain, method of making the Irish language a living force in Irish life.

WORK FOR SCHOLARS.

"I understand that there is in existence a vast number of Irish manuscripts of great value. Would it not be wise to begin with the building up of a literature by concentrating the attention of our ablest scholars upon the editing of the best of these? Would it not be equally important to train clever boys and girls, some at least of whom might be expected to produce sound literary work, in Irish? This could be attained by a careful system of scholarships tenable at intermediate schools and in universities. This will take time, but we believe it will be found in the end to be the more certain method.

"We are beginning at the wrong end, and to some extent even warm friends of the language are becoming depressed. If, however, better counsels prevail, and this slower but more certain method adopted, it is possible that in time the Irish language will attain its due place in Irish life. We think, however, that the importance of a language can be exaggerated, especially when it has been for centuries silent.

"The chief asset in linking a country and people together is to make it a happy, prosperous home. There must be unity in furthering its commercial interests, and there must be no respect of persons or creeds in the making of the administration of the laws. We are Irishmen, full of love for our country, most anxious to do all that we possibly can to further its interests. We may not wholly agree with many of our fellow-countrymen as to the best means to atttain the objectives all have at heart, but yet the common aim which is before all Irishmen should ensure harmony and the warmest good feeling." (Applause.)

COMMUNIST LIE.

MR. J. H. THOMAS AND GERMAN RAILWAYS.

During the debate by the National Union of Railwaymen at Southport yesterday on the nationalisation of the railways, following the motion of the Swansea delegate, Mr. Dupree, Mr. J. H. Thomas said that one of the delegates, Mr. Loeber, of Wood Green, had made a veiled attack upon the Labour Government.

Despite Russian statements, the Labour Government had not, under the Dawes plan, denationalised the German railways. That was a Communist lie. The Labour Government, in the interests of peace and contentment, freed the German railway workers from the tyranny of French militarism.

THE SENATE ELECTIONS.

DAIL'S PANEL.

HOW THE VOTES WERE CAST.

THE official figures of the selection of the Dail panel of thirty-eight candidates for the Senate make interesting reading. The details of the ballot, which were made available yesterday, show that of the fifty-five persons whose names appeared on the ballot paper, twenty-two secured nomination on the first count.

One hundred valid votes were recorded, and the quota—the number of votes required by a candidate to secure his selection—was 2·565. Every vote was given the value of one thousand votes.

In this way the work of counting was simplified, and the transfer and distribution of surplus papers was facilitated.

Below are given the figures of the first count—that is, the number of first preference votes (if any) recorded for every candidate:—

*Denotes Government nominee.

The twenty-two candidates who received three votes or over were elected forthwith.

Mr. Houston, a Labour candidate, secured the highest number of first preferences, and his surplus, when distributed, obtained the nomination of Mr. Michael Fanning (grocer and vintner), an Independent candidate, and strengthened the position of Mr. Joseph Johnston, F., T.C.D., and put in the running Mr. Jeremiah MacVeagh, who had not received a single first preference vote.

It is doubtful whether Mr. MacVeagh would have been selected but for the fact that, when Lieutenant-Colonel Esmonde was eliminated in the thirty-eighth count, his votes went entirely to Mr. MacVeagh, who thus reached the quota.

Mr. Sean Milroy's surplus was transferred at an early stage, and Mr. Alex MacCabe (another member, with Mr. Milroy, of the McGrath group) benefited materially, as did Mr. Liam de Roiste.

The distribution of Mr. Sean O Muirthuille's surplus on the fourth count put Mr. de Roiste on the panel. Mr. McCabe was not elected until the forty-fifth count (the second last).

The elimination of Professor Donovan on the fortieth count secured the nomination of Dr. A. McBride, of Castlebar. Sir William Hickey obtained his quota in the forty-third count, on the elimination of Mr. Martin Egan, an Independent candidate, while Mr. Johnston, of Dublin University, was elected in the forty-first count.

Mr. J. P. Higgins, ex-Mayor of Sligo, was the last person on the ballot paper to be eliminated; and then Mr. Michael Jordan, one of the Farmers' nominees, was elected, and without a quota.

THE SENATE ELECTIONS.

In the ballot paper for the elections to the Free State Senate, which we published yesterday, one of Dail Eireann's nominees was described as "Foley, Richard, teacher, 44 Eaton square, Dublin." This candidate informs us that his name is Risteard O Foghludha, and that his "proper business designation" is not "teacher," but "bainisteoir."

COLONEL KILLED.

MOTOR CAR RUNS INTO PUBLIC-HOUSE.

A terrible death, while motoring through Aylesbury, Bucks, yesterday, overtook a military officer well known in Buckinghamshire, Lieut.-Col. James Blyth, C.B.E., of Iver Grove, Iver, who commanded the 3rd Battalion of the Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry during the war. He was passing a woman cyclist proceeding in the same direction, when the car mounted the pavement, knocked down an electric standard, and ran into the front entrance of a publichouse.

The standard, the entrance and the surrounding masonry were all carried into the bar of the publichouse, the bonnet and the four wheels of the car coming to a stand-still at the counter. The lamp standard had fallen on the top of Colonel Blyth, who, when it was removed, was found to be suffering from head injuries, from which he died while being conveyed to hospital. Mrs. Blyth, who was seated beside him, escaped injury. The cyclist was not seriously injured, but she was removed to hospital with two men who were in the bar of the publichouse. Several men in the bar had narrow escapes.

Lieut.-Col. Blyth, who belonged to a north country family, purchased Iver Grove some years ago. He took active interest in local affairs at Iver, particularly in connection with the Cottage Hospital. For his services during the war he was mentioned in despatches and was awarded the C.B.E. In 1897 he contested, unsuccessfully, in the Conservative interest the Barnsley division of Yorkshire. He leaves a twelve-year-old son. An elder son fell in the war.

YACHT STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

HELSINGFORS, Thursday.

While Mr. Joergensen, the manager of the Great Northern Telegraph Co. in Finland, was sailing his yacht near Nystad to-day the yacht was struck by lightning. All those on board were killed, with the exception of Mr. Joergensen's daughters.—(Reuter.)

MINE CRISIS.

THE GOVERNMENT INTERVENES.

HOPEFUL SIGN.

MEETING THE MEN TO-DAY.

"A BIG GULF."

THE Executive of the Miners' Federation will meet Mr. Bridgeman (the First Lord of the Admiralty, who was Home Secretary in the previous Conservative Government), at the Admiralty this morning. This is hopeful news in connection with the threatened upheaval in the British coalfields when the national agreement governing wages comes to an end in three weeks' time. The owners gave notice a fortnight ago of their intention to end the present arrangement.

Labour members are among those who express satisfaction that Mr. Bridgeman, on behalf of the Government, met the coalowners yesterday and arranged to meet the miners' representatives to-morrow. The hope is entertained that, as a result of these interviews with the Minister, the two sides will be brought face to face.

> Until trade unions changed their policy, there would be no return to prosperity. The cause of depression was high costs and low production. Until trade union leaders acknowledged that, and costs were reduced, and the export trade increased, there was no chance of the return of prosperity.—Sir George B. Hunter at Wallsend-on-Tyne yesterday.

The position, as put to the Central News Lobby Correspondent, by a miner member last night, is this: "The men may give way a little, and the owners may give way a little, but after that there is a big gulf which neither of them can bridge. I do not know the solution unless it is a Government subsidy."

Mr. Bridgeman, when he saw the Central Committee of the Mining Association yesterday, was accompanied by the Minister of Labour, Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, and the Secretary for Mines.

OFFER OF AN INQUIRY.

The Labour Correspondent of The Times writes:—It cannot yet be said whether anything tangible will come from these first steps towards mediation, but the action of the Government in seeking first-hand information of the situation indicates that a policy of "keeping in touch" is not being interpreted as watching the controversy from outside the ring.

When Mr. Bridgeman is in possession of the views of the two sides, he may be able to make suggestions intended to clear the way for a renewal of conversations between the owners and the men's leaders. The Committee of the Mining Association, after their talk with the representatives of the Government, spent the afternoon discussing the situation, and the members will meet again to-day.

This means that the two parties to the dispute will be available, if Mr. Bridgeman wishes to get into communication with either or both of them in the afternoon.

It is understood that the Government have in reserve, if the present deadlock cannot otherwise be broken, an offer to appoint a court of inquiry.

A WORKABLE SOLUTION.

Mr. Amery, speaking at Warwick last night, said that he still believed that they would escape the disaster of an industrial struggle in the coal trade, and that wise counsel on the part of employers, not less than on responsible leaders of Labour, would find some workable solution reasonably fair to all concerned. The one thing necessary in industry was that employers should take their men into their confidence and enable them to understand the business they were conducting. Different industries should also help each other.

"THE GREATEST UPHEAVAL."

On the other hand, Mr. John Robertson, M.P. for the Boswell Division of Lanarkshire, speaking in London last night, said: "I do not want to threaten the general public, the coalowners, or the Government, but if anyone wants to steer clear of probably the greatest upheaval that has ever taken place in British industry, he should endeavour to settle this question on sound lines at once."

He sincerely hoped that the crisis might be averted, but he was fearful of the condition of the nation with two millions unemployed. But when we had a million miners idle, and nearly every worker idle in a few days, no one could say what the outcome of that situation would be.

ALLEGED EXCESSIVE PRICES.

Mr. Geoffrey Peto, in the House of Commons yesterday, asked the Prime Minister if he would take steps to prevent the excessive prices which were being charged by owners of coal stocks, in anticipation of a possible stoppage in coal production.

Mr. Lane-Fox replied that he had no evidence that excessive prices were being charged. He had no power to take steps to prevent such charges from being made.

VATICAN AND CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.

SEMI-OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

ROME, Thursday.

With reference to the incident that has arisen between the Holy See and Czecho-Slovakia, the Osservatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican, publishes the following:—

"In consequence of the fact that, in connection with the John Huss Festival, organised in Prague, with special solemnity, on July 6th, the President of the Republic had assumed the patronage and the Prime Minister had accepted the honorary presidency of the festivities, the Holy See has ordered the Nuncio, Mgr. Marmaggi, to enter a strong protest and to leave Prague immediately." The Nuncio arrived in Rome to-day.—(Reuter.)

THE SCOTSMAN'S CINEMA.

"PICCADILLY THE MOST VULGAR PLACE IN EUROPE."

"The Scotsman's Cinema" was the description given to Piccadilly by a speaker at the British Architects' Conference in Newcastle yesterday. It was, he said, the most vulgar place in Great Britain.

Sir Theodore Morison, the Principal of Armstrong College, Newcastle, said that the lack of harmonious design was the main fault of modern streets. Architects should have a policy, which should make it a joy to go shopping. He regarded lighted night signs as hideous.

While playing in a storeroom, John Perry, aged 15, of Roseneath, Dumbartonshire, was fatally injured when a companion picked up a loaded gun which went off.

DARWINISM ON TRIAL.

EXCITEMENT IN U.S.

PROFESSOR THE HERO OF TENNESSEE.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

DAYTON, TENNESSEE, Thursday.

The whole city is in a ferment, preparatory to the trial which opens to-morrow of Professor John T. Scopes on a charge of violating the law of Tennessee by teaching the Darwinian theory of evolution. In fact, the attention of the whole of America is riveted on what is termed here "the battle between Christianity and evolution."

Every incoming train brings a fresh load of newspaper men, lawyers, witnesses and visitors, while the streets resound with the monotonous clanging of the hammers of carpenters putting the finishing touches to the stands which are springing up all round the pavements.

The chief topic of conversation here to-day was an address made last night by Mr. William Jennings Bryan, the prosecuting counsel, attacking what he described as an attempt of the minority of scientists to foist their views upon the children of the majority.

Coatless, hatless and collarless, the youthful Professor Scopes, the centre of all this remarkable excitement, spent most of the day whirling round the streets of Dayton in a low-built racing car, accompanied by a bob-haired girl companion, who appeared to be supremely unconscious of the honour of being seen in the company of the town's hero, and equally indifferent as to whether her neocene ancestors were apes or tadpoles.

EIFFEL TOWER'S 30,000 LAMPS.

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST ELECTRIC SIGN.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Thursday.

The famed Eiffel Tower is being transformed into the world's largest electrical advertising station. Eventually it may become a huge skyscraper and may house tourists in Paris on its sixty-sixth story.

The transformation of the world's tallest building into the world's greatest signboard is being undertaken for a famous French motor car manufacturing firm. M. Carlo Castiglione, who is directing the work of putting in the huge electrical installation on the gigantic structure, says that the greatest difficulty is in hoisting the huge letters forty-eight metres wide on to the side of the building.

"We have one hundred and twenty men engaged in the job of placing this frame-work and stringing the cables. Over seventeen kilometres of cables will be used when the three sides of the illumination are completed representing a weight of fifteen tons and twelve tons of attaching cable and wire.

"The illumination contains thirty thousand lamps, totalling about ten million candle power. Theoretically the bright lights, disregarding atmospheric interference, should be visible a distance of one hundred and ten kilometres, and the design of the sign should be visible sixty kilometres. This estimate is based on the curvature of the earth and the height of the tower and the brightness of the lights, but, of course, owing to the humidity that usually prevails, the sign will not be visible anywhere like that distance under actual conditions."

THE NORTH'S RESOURCES

DEVELOPMENT OF ELECTRICITY UNDERTAKINGS.

Mr. Johnstone Wright, the Belfast City Electrical Engineer, giving evidence yesterday before the Commission on the National and Industrial Resources of Northern Ireland, said that despite the unquestionable advantages of electricity supply, there was a tendency in many quarters to expect too much from supply development. Electricity was not in itself a panacea for industrial and social ills. It was a tremendous boon to trade generally, but it would not prevent trade depression. In this connection he might instance the north-east coast of England, which was undoubtedly the best electrically served district in the United Kingdom, but it had suffered the trade depression just as much as any other district.

There were certain defined limits below which the price of electricity from a public supply network, or for that matter from any other source, could not fall no matter what the source of supply might be, whether generated from water, coal or from fuel, but within a reasonable radius and under normal conditions supply would be cheaper from a public network than that obtained from small isolated plants.

Mr. Wright estimated the total power used in Belfast for manufacturing and other purposes, exclusive of tramways, at 65,000 horse-power. With regard to prospects of generation at Coalisland or from the River Bann, he said that Coalisland seemed to be the most promising—in fact, it might be described as an ideal situation, as, there, one found coal within easy reach of an ample water supply for condensing purposes, a combination not often obtainable. He would not recommend building the station at the colliery.

If the colliery developed, as they all hoped it would, the question would arise: would it not be better to extract the household grade of coal from the tonnage brought to the bank and transport this part of the output alone by rail, and convert the remainder of the output into electricity, and distribute by this means throughout Northern Ireland? It would be a cheap means of transport, and he believed it would benefit the consumer and the colliery owner.

Dealing with the Bann scheme, Mr. Wright suggested that there might be co-operation with the Belfast Corporation scheme. At the Belfast station, for instance, there was ample spare plant during the summer months to supply any Bann scheme network during drought periods, and he was sure the Corporation would be only too glad to assist in any scheme which would not involve increased capital, but make better use of the existing capital, which of necessity must stand idle in all public electricity supply undertakings during the summer months. It was more than possible that a working agreement between a Bann scheme and a coal-fired station might result in a lower capital cost on a Bann scheme and more efficient use of capital at the coal-fired station, with a total resulting in lower charges to the consumers.

IRISH CATTLE IN BRITAIN.

DETENTION PERIOD REDUCED.

At the meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board yesterday, a letter was received from the Department of Agriculture, stating that the Department had been informed by the British Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries that, as from the 4th inst., the detention period for Irish animals moved from approved landing places in Great Britain, had been reduced from twenty-eight days to six days.

NO MORE GOODS FOR CHINA.

WAREHOUSES FULL.

BITTER SHANGHAI STRIKE LEADERS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
From Our Own Correspondent.

SHANGHAI, Thursday.

The serious effect that the disorders in China are having upon foreign trade is indicated in the Customs report, issued to-day, which shows a d.o of a million and a half taels during the month of June, due largely to the shipping strikes and the failure to move cargo.

The Shanghai shipping warehouses are jammed with merchandise, which it is impossible to move in or out.

This has resulted in the shipping companies cabling instructions to their branches in Europe, Japan, and America to discontinue shipments to China pending a return to normal conditions. Most of the warehouses on the China coast are completely filled with goods owing to the failure of Chinese consignees to accept the deliveries of cargo.

The Shanghai situation is unchanged, except in a noticeable increasing bitterness among the strike leaders to prevent the men returning to their jobs. There are frequent cases of kidnapping of labourers who have returned to their work. The foreign police have to-day been placed on all the street and tramway cars to prevent the kidnapping of Chinese motormen and conductors who are remaining on their jobs.

The chief reason of the increasing bitterness on the part of the strike leaders is given as owing to a big decrease in the funds available for payment to the workless strikers, and the leaders are trying to force wealthy Chinese into making contributions towards prolonging the strike.

FIRMNESS IN HONG KONG.

GOVERNOR PROMISES MORE DRASTIC MEASURES.

From "The Times" Correspondent.

HONG KONG, Thursday.

At a meetng of the Legislative Council to-day, Sir Reginald Stubbs, the Governor, made an excellent speech. He thoroughly reassured the loyal population, promising more drastic measures for dealing with the situation if necessary, even the deportation of every unemployed adult. He announced that arrangements had been almost completed for making the capture of those engaged in intimidation certain. These would in future be flogged, while those already in jail would be employed in scavenging work in the city, a course which would possibly make them regret the results of their activities.

The Governor heartily thanked the hundreds of loyal Chinese who were volunteering for the essential services, and he emphasised the fact that the present was not a true strike, nor even a movement arising out of genuine sympathy with the supposed wrongs of the strikers, but a deliberate attempt in the interests of anarchy to destroy the prospects and the very exitsence of the Hong Kong community.

The Governor stated that the reports of crimes committed by intimidators were much exaggerated. The bodies found in the streets included many dead from natural causes, which, in the usual Chinese way, were dumped, in order to save funeral expenses.

FURTHER INCIDENTS.

To-night two sticks of dynamite were thrown at a shop of a compradore, who supplies the Canadian Pacific Company. He had received several notices threatening him with violence. The shop front was damaged, but no one was injured. There were no arrests.

The police continue actively their search for Bolshevist agents and intimidators, pedestrians and motor cars being frequently stopped and examined.

Apparently, in retaliation for the deportation from Hong Kong of suspected loiterers, numbering about a hundred, the seamen's union at Canton have now ordered the crews of the Chinese river steamers to leave their vessels, which means the complete cutting off of Hong Kong from Canton. Eighty coastal and river vessels are now laid up, but Lascar crews are en route to man some of them.

A Russian ship is reported to have brought to Canton a large consignment of rifles, and Russian military instructors are drilling the new battalions of the Canton "Red" Army, which is being recruited from the ranks of the strikers. These reports are not regarded seriously, for signs are not wanting that Canton and other ports are facing a food shortage. Canton seriously lacks coal and oil, but the authorities there are actively arranging for direct shipments. Hong Kong could effectively blockade Canton and force a quick decision, but no suggestion of such action has hitherto been made.

EXTRA-TERRITORIAL RIGHTS.

Replying to Mr. Johnston, in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Arthur Michael Samuel said that Great Britain at the Washington Conference declared that she would relinquish her rights to extra-territoriality in China when she was satisfied that the administration of Chinese law, and other considerations, warranted her doing so. It was self-evident that the present condition of China with regard to orderly administration of law and safety of life and property compared very unfavourably with that in Japan, when extra-territorial rights in that country were abandoned in 1894. The Government considered it of great consequence that the Treaty Powers should act together in this matter.

ANOTHER GUNMAN SHOT.

GANG WAR IN CHICAGO.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE
From Our Own Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Thursday.

A fierce gang war has again broken out in Chicago. Last night a well-known member of a family of underworld "gunmen," Tony Genna, was shot and killed in an ambush.

The Chicago police attribute the shooting to followers of Dion Obanion, the late "ing" of Chicago's underworld, who are believed to be seeking vengeance for the murder of their chief some months ago. Tony Genna is the third member of this family of gunmen who have been killed in the last six weeks.

SWISS SWINDLER SENTENCED.

ZURICH, Thursday.

Constantin Stadler, a Swiss, who had been residing in Russia, has been found guilty of fraud and sentenced to five years' penal servitude. Stadler obtained the passport of a Russian capitalist living at Lake Geneva, and was thus able to procure from a Zurich bank the transfer of 555,000 Swiss francs from the Bank of England to Zurich. Here the sum was drawn out by means of a forged signature.—(Reuter.)

BALLOON LANDS IN ALPS.

PARIS, Thursday.

LATE NEWS.

THE COAL DISPUTE.

A SUGGESTION.

In the course of a leading article on the coal dispute, The Times observes:—It seems hardly credible that employers and employed in an industry on which their capital and their wages depend should not strain every nerve to avoid a breach equally fatal to the plain interests of both. How is the situation to be faced? One most hopeful feature of the debate in Parliament is the confidence of speakers from both sides that it can be retrieved and their determination that it shall be retrieved. So far there is not much prospect that anything decisive will be done in a hurry. Whatever impression the representations of Mr. Bridgeman may have made upon the owners yesterday and may make upon the miners to-day, the Executive of the Federation can hardly be expected to modify the attitude they have publicly taken up before the conference at Scarborough, which opens on Monday.

The Joint Committee of the Association and the Federation practically agreed, we are told, on the statistics they examined together. The ideal solution is that they should come to a like agreement on the main practical conclusions to be drawn from those statistics, and from other facts within their common knowledge, and that they should explain both evidence and conclusions plainly and frankly to their constituents and to the public. Should they prove unable to perform this duty, with such assistance as Ministers can lend them, the time will have come when the Government may feel constrained to resort to the less satisfactory method of appointing a strong court of inquiry. Such a body would unquestionably be able to reach the whole truth about the matters in controversy, and to found upon it recommendations which would commend themselves to the judgment of the nation.

TANGIER ZONE.

GREAT BRITAIN'S POSITION.

The reply of the British Government to the Spanish Note on the protection of the Tangier zone was sent yesterday, states The Times. Neither the text of the Spanish Note nor that of the British reply has been published. It is known, however, that the Spanish Government has had under consideration various suggestions for the protection of the Tangier zone against a possible attack by the forces of Abdel Krim. One suggestion was that permission should be given the Spanish forces at Tetuan and other places to enter the Tangier zone. Another suggestion was that British, French and Spanish troops should be landed at Tangier for the defence of the zone. Further, at the Madrid conference, the French and Spanish delegates signed an agreement for the policing of their territorial waters and of the waters of the Tangier zone so as to prevent contraband from reaching the Rifis.

As Mr. Austen Chamberlain stated in the House of Commons on July 1 the British Government had received an invitation from the Spanish Government to take part in those measures, Mr. Chamberlain adding that the Tangier Convention to which Great Britain is a party provided for the neutrality of the territorial waters of the Tangier zone.

It is understood that the British Government is averse from making any change in the status of Tangier, especially as there is not sufficient evidence of internal trouble or of danger from outside to warrant the landing of international forces.

CRIMINAL APPEAL COURT FOR SCOTLAND.

The Times Parliamentary Correspondent writes:—The report of the Committee which was set up by the Secretary for Scotland to consider the question of criminal appeal in Scotland has been laid on the table of the House of Commons. It recommends that a Court of Criminal Appeal for Scotland should be established to review convictions on indictment whether in the High Court or in the Sheriff Court. The necessary legislation should follow the English lines, with certain modifications.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH REPORT.

The Daily News, dealing with the public health report for 1924 says:—The mortality among women in child-birth has shown little or no improvement since 1894, and this is the most deplorable revelation in the whole report. The calculation of the amount of ill-health in terms of lost labour is less impressive at a time of vast unemployment than it would be in happier conditions, but it is impressive enough. The death rate is slightly higher than in the previous year, but it is still amongst the lowest ever recorded in this country. The best news of all is a further saving of 39,000 infant lives as compared with the 1901-10 average. This again must be qualified by a reminder that there is still room for improvement, especially in the dangerous first weeks. From this mixture of facts, bad and good, one may glean a hint of the dangers which exist and the efforts which are being made to lessen them.

THE ECONOMIC EQUILIBRIUM.

The Daily Telegraph, while not seeing anything "alarming" in the present position of the export trade of the country, says:—We are consuming more food and buying more foreign manufactures, but are selling less of our own produce, though as many people are working to-day as twelve years ago. That is the real problem that demands the most careful examination. The economic equilibrium has been disturbed, and the only way of readjusting it is either by buying less or selling more. The obvious remedy for the present state of affairs, and one within our compass, is to encourage production, maintaining quality and reducing prices by more efficient organisation and more intensive work on the part of all—master as well as men.

MR. CHURCHILL ENTERTAINED.

The Times Parliamentary Correspondent says:—Mr. Churchill was entertained at luncheon yesterday by M.P.'s associated with the Dominions and the Colonies, in recognition of the adoption by Parliament of the Preference resolutions of the Imperial Economic Conference.

RUSSIAN ORDERS FOR BRITAIN.

The Daily Herald says:—M. Rakovsky, who returned to London on Wednesday, had come prepared to place orders with British firms to the extent of not less than £15,000,000. Of these, some £10,000,000 will be for agricultural and other machinery, required as the result of the good harvest that is said to be assured.

ARTIFICIAL GOLD.

MORE EXPENSIVE THAN THE REAL ARTICLE.

From Our Special Correspondent.
(From Our Special Representative.)

BRUSSELS, Thursday.

It is cheaper to mine for gold than to manufacture it. The Japanese expert, Professor Nagaoka, who has been experimenting in the artificial manufacture of gold, and who is at present in Brussels, declares, "Several tiny specks in the bottom of a test tube which are hardly distinguishable with the naked eye is the entire result I have obtained. From the practical point of view my experiments have no immediate significance.

"I wish to make it clear that I have not at all sought to manufacture gold for the value of the metal. When I began my research last September I had only a scientific aim, and my purpose has not changed. The gold that I manufacture is much more expensive than the other."

EARL HAIG IN CANADA.

CALGARY, ALBERTA, Thursday.

Earl Haig and his party were greeted by cheering crowds on their arrival here this morning. The party lunched as the guests of Lord Strathcona's Horse, which is affiliated to Lord Haig's old regiment, the 17th Lancers. Lady Haig was entertained at luncheon by members of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire and the Women's Canadian Club. Earl Haig spent the afternoon in watching a cowboy stampede and equestrian displays. He will meet Lord Byng, the Governor-General, at Banff on Saturday.—(Reuter.)

FRENCH POLICY IN MOROCCO.

CREDIT VOTED.

PREMIER'S REPLY TO COMMUNISTS.

TAZA NOT TAKEN.

NO ANNEXATION OF TERRITORY.

The French Chamber yesterday passed the Moroccan credit of 183,000,000 francs by 411 votes against 29.

The Prime Minister, M. Painlevé, stated that there was no truth whatever in the report that Taza had been captured.

During the debate the Communist leader, M. Cachin, asked for the recognition of the independence of the Riffs, and the military evacuation of all French Morocco. He added that the Communists would continue to organise resistance to the war against Abdel Krim.

Colonel Fabry, who was Minister for the Colonies in M. Poincaré's Cabinet, urged that the Government should not negotiate peace until Abdel Krim had been taught a lesson. He declared that the operations should be vigorously pushed on with all the necessary forces and equipment that the circumstances demanded until it was no longer possible for Abdel Krim to do any injury to France.

In condemning the Communist attitude as treasonable, Colonel Fabry appealed to the Government to make war in Morocco and war against the Communists.

M. Roux Freissenberg, the Deputy for Oran, speaking with local knowledge, declared that unless Abdel Krim submitted, France could not draw back. Abdel Krim was informed hour by hour of events in France, and he was surrounded by persons all of whom were enemies of France. France's security, both in Morocco and Algeria, were at stake.

M. Cluzel doubted whether the credits asked for by the Government would suffice to finish the war, inasmuch as Marshal Lyautey said that he needed 160,000 shells a month.

M. Painlevé, addressing the House, said that he wished to refute the suggestion which had been made that the Government had forced the military command in Morocco to adopt tactics which exposed the French forces to the weight of Abdel Krim's attack without the possibility of retaliation.

He also repudiated the charge against France that she had provoked Abdel Krim by taking precautionary measures.

M. Painlevé again denied that Taza had been captured, adding that if it should be captured, it would be immediately won back.

"We have not only," he said, "no intention of colonising new territory, or of subjugating a nation which has kept to its ancient tradition of independence, but we also respect that ancient tradition. We seek a modus vivendi which will allow Frenchmen, Spaniards and Riffi to work peacefully together, but peace must first be assured in our zone, and the population for whose protection we are responsible must be protected."

Taza lies 120 miles east of Fez, in a mountainous district.

PARIS REVELATIONS.

TURKISH INFLUENCE IN THE RIFF.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Thursday.

The Turkish hand in the Riff uprising is causing the French Government much anxiety, following the disclosures that Turkish and German officers are training the Riffian soldiers.

It is obvious that the Turkish objectives will involve France so deeply in Morocco that Turkey can seize Northern Syria without fear of French reprisals. The secret Treaty which Deputy Franklin Bouillon negotiated at Angora in October, 1921, provided a special régime for the strategic city of Aleppo and the excellent port of Alexandretta in the Syrian mandate, and Mustapha Kemal Pasha interpreted this régime to mean actual Turkish control, such as the use of the Turkish flag and the Turkish language in the local Turkish Assembly.

The Turks want Aleppo more than ever now, because the salient of the Baghdad railway passes through Aleppo, but the French absolutely refuse to accept Kemal Pasha's interpretation of the Treaty Clause. In the meantime the Turks are merely biding their day.

The newspaper mouthpieces of the French Government to-day give details of Turkish, German, and Russian intrigues in the Riff, which have previously been withheld by the French statesmen, and the most startling is that 100 Moslem officers of the Red Army were embarked on the Turkish ship Kara Denis at Batoum on May 30, and were secretly de-embarked on the Riff coast a few days later.

The chiefs of the unofficial Turkish military mission, with Abdel Krim, are stated to be Remsi Hamdoullah, who has charge of all the military training of the Riffian Army, and Ishan Chereffeddine, who has charge of all the service supplies—both ex-staff officers.

Political liaison between Ajdir and Constantinople is maintained by Hassan Bekir Bey, the delegate of the Turkish Red Crescent. Abdel Krim's military intelligence is declared to be directed by Captain Tannenberg, a German officer, who served with Turkey during the war.

The defence of the Riffian coast, particularly in the vicinity of the Bay of Alhucemas, is in the hands of Captain Heinrich, a German officer, who served in the Dardanelles, and a Turkish officer named Youssouf Bey. The newspapers also give lists of mixed German and Turkish Committees in Berlin and Munich, through which Turkey and Russia are said to be forwarding arms, money, and medicines to Abdel Krim.

The Council of the International Wireless Telephone Union to-day ratified the decision reached by the Conference of European Broadcasting Engineers yesterday regarding after-hours experiments, and agreed to approach the various European Governments through the League of Nations for permission to conduct early in September, after the regular broadcasting hours, systematic experimental transmissions on wave lengths calculated to enable the numerous existing and protected stations to operate free from mutual interference.—(Reuter.)

GAME PROTECTION.

AMALGAMATION OF TWO ASSOCIATIONS.

A general meeting of the members of the Leinster branch of the National Game Protection Association was held in the City Arms Hotel, Prussia street, Dublin, yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the question of amalgamation with the Irish Game Protection Association.

Colonel Hely Hutchinson, who presided, said that their Association had been started in a small way at Swords, largely through the efforts of Mr. Michael Dunne. The idea was to protect the game on their farms in order to provide some coursing and partridge shooting. The Association had gone ahead remarkably, and had now a membership of close on one hundred. Some of them thought that they could get their object carried out better by amalgamating with the older Association, with its machinery and organisation already in existence. On their part they could offer with the amalgamation a large number of small holders of land all keen for the protection of game.

Mr. B. J. Newcombe, Secretary of the Irish Game Protection Association, who attended the meeting on invitation, said that the Association, which had been in existence for about thirty-four years, was representative of every game interest, and included landowners, sportsmen and farmers. Because of the war and the later troubles in Ireland, they had lost many members and were compelled to cut their expenditure to a minimum; but still they carried out the protection of game as well as they could. Much against the will of some members, they had even brought prosecutions in the Republican courts and had fines inflicted there.

LEGISLATION.

The present Government had consulted with the Association as to how the game laws could best be amended, and after many conferences a report was furnished to the Minister for Justice, who said that new legislation would be framed on it later on. In fact, a new Act had been drafted, but pressure of business prevented its introduction during the session just concluded. Already there had been introduced into the Finance Act two of the Association's recommendations, the 5s. dog licence and the £2 game licence. The Association had made a very strong recommendation against the old ten shilling licence, the greatest menace to the game of the country, and that had been done away with. They were also pressing for legislation for the unifying of the dates for the opening of the season, for the taking of hare, snipe and woodcock, and they were trying to bring widgeon, teal and plover within the game laws.

Mr. M. Dunne, Swords, said that the National Association had been brought into being because nothing had been done for the protection of game for the past four or five years. In the past the people gave no assistance to the police to secure the preservation of the game, but there had come a great change, and the farmers, who now recognised that they have equal rights in sport, realised that they should protect the sports of coursing and shooting, and keep them clean. In all County Dublin he had not heard of a single farmer who would refuse to help the Civic Guard in putting down the illegal destruction of game.

INSPECTORS.

Mr. Newcombe, in reply to the Chairman, said that the membership fee of his Association was £1 a year, for which free legal advice was given. Where there were a sufficient number of subscriptions in an area an inspector was sent by the Association to give expert assistance in the preservation of the game. They had as many as twenty inspectors out in one year. In a recent prosecution brought by the Association at Celbridge fines of £23 were imposed, one of the defendants being an officer in the Army in Dublin. As far as their prosecutions were concerned, the Association found the District Justices to be a great improvement on the magistrates of the past. Their experience was that the Justices were no respecters of persons.

Mr. Cyril Corbally said that it would be a great matter to have one Association for the protection of game. The strength of the existing Associations lay in different classes of the population, and it would be an important advance to get them working together.

Several of those present expressed themselves in favour of the idea of one Association, and finally a committee was appointed to investigate and make a report on the proposal to amalgamate.

Mr. M. Dunne, on behalf of the Association, congratulated the President, Colonel Hely-Hutchinson, on his election to Dublin County Council at the head of the poll. That, he said, showed that a new spirit and outlook had come into the country.

POISONING OF FRY.

LIMERICK BOARD ASKS FOR INQUIRY.

The poisoning of fry at Killaloe on June 12th was discussed at a meeting of the Limerick Board Fishery Conservators yesterday.

Mr. A. Mackey said that the Board should leave nothing undone to ascertain the cause, and he proposed that they should ask the Ministry of Fisheries for an inquiry.

Mr. J. Murphy seconded.

The Chairman (Dr. Seales) said that they should find out the cost of an inquiry. He, like Mr. Mackey, thought that the question should be probed.

Mr. A. Blood Smyth said that he did not think that an inquiry would serve its purpose. There was nothing in the Fisheries Acts providing for such an inquiry. He moved a direct negative, which was seconded by Captain Whitehead.

The motion was carried on a show of hands.

A memorial was received from the Clarecastle net fishermen asking to have the bylaw prohibiting drift net fishing on the River Fergus repealed. The Board decided to ask the Ministry of Fisheries to hold an inquiry into the matter.

DONEGALL ESTATE TENANTS.

PROTEST AGAINST HALF-YEARLY PAYMENT.

A meeting of tenants on the Islandmagee (County Antrim) estate of the Marquis of Donegall, held under the auspices of the Ulster Farmers' Union, has passed a resolution protesting against the landlord's demand that the rent should be paid half-yearly instead of yearly. The resolution states that farmers, "through no fault of their own, but entirely owing to a succession of disastrous seasons," would be quite unable to meet this unexpected demand. The tenants, therefore, call upon the Northern Government to intervene on their behalf, either by restraining the landlord or assisting the tenants financially "in this time of unprecedented difficulty."

RESTAURANT WORKERS' STRIKE.

A mass meeting of hotel, restaurant, and café workers, called by the Transport and General Workers' Union, which was held last night at 42 York street, Dublin, endorsed a resolution resolving to support, financially and morally, their comrades who are on strike for union conditions and wages and for the recognition of trade unionism.

It was decided to open a "Fighting Fund" to assist those on strike.

The Metcalfe Milling Company's buildings at Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, have been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at £30,000.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE SENATE ELECTIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As there appears to be a general belief that technical difficulties arise in applying proportional representation to a constituency covering the whole area of the Free State, will you permit me, upon behalf of my Committee, to reassure the public upon this point? The size of the constituency, and the large number of votes which may be involved, imply nothing more than the organisation of an adequate staff and a slightly prolonged period in the counting and declaration of the results. These results, when available, will accurately reflect the opinions of the electors as expressed upon their ballot papers.

Only two formidable difficulties seem to present themselves. First, the electors may find it difficult to judge the relative merits of the very large number of candidates whose names appear upon the ballot papers. Upon that point the necessary precaution would seem to be a very wide circulation of model ballot papers before the poll, so that electors in all parts of the country might have time to make inquiries and arrive at deliberate decisions. Secondly, there is the danger that electors may abstain from the poll owing to a supposed difficulty in marking a sufficient number of "preferences" upon their papers. Upon this point it is desirable, even at this early stage, to say that every voter can exert a large influence in the result of the election even if his choice is limited to making one "preference" only. It is desirable, of course, that he should go further, and mark "preferences" against the names of all the candidates as to whose merits he is in a position to form a judgment. There will probably be very few electors, indeed, who will attempt to exhaust their "preferences" in this case.

My Committee note with great satisfaction the specimen ballot paper to which the Irish Times has devoted so much space in to-day's issue; and they suggest that reprints of this model ballot paper might be made available for the general use of electors between now and the polling day.—Yours, etc.,

M. CARROLL, Assistant Secretary.

REDUCTION OF HOLDINGS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I am very glad to see that attention is now being given to the clauses of the Free State Land Act concerning the reduction in size of holdings of greater valuation than £100 per annum. As I understand it, the law is that land can be taken from any such holder on the decision of the Land Commission, no matter what the circumstances. According to the strict letter of the law, it does not matter at all whether the best use of the land is at present being made or not.

To take my own case, I threw up a very profitable job abroad in 1920 to take over a farm of £200 valuation which has been in the family as freehold for generations, and always was worked as a mixed tillage and breeding farm, giving large employment. At that time the house was in a very bad state of repair, and so were the buildings, which, moreover, were very old-fashioned and inconvenient. I have sunk all my available capital, and borrowed very considerably as well, to repair and improve these and to do fencing, draining and other capital works. There is a good deal still to be done, but the place is at last in a very fair way of working, and yielded a small profit for the first time on the actual running of the farm for the last year. Yet now I am told that at any moment an official may turn up and demand half the land, at an arbitrary price, and very likely payable in bonds of mediocre marketability.

The house is large enough as it is, and could not be supported by a smaller farm, and half my new buildings would be wasted. The fact is that farms such as this that are worked at all are nearly always complete economic units and cannot be decreased in area without throwing the whole delicate mechanism out of gear. One has a certain number of men and horses, but that does not say that with half the area one could do with a corresponding reduction in staff. Most of the men are experts in their own particular departments and have just a full year's work to do—no more, no less. That, at any rate, is the ideal labour lay-out; but how could one manage with one-half or three-quarters of a year's work for an expert stockman or ploughman? There is also the question of supervisory and other overhead charges.

Again, I have a large pedigree cattle herd, and most of the best pedigree herds in the country are the large ones. That is almost fundamental, as it would not pay a man with only a few cows to go to the price of a really tip-top sire. In fact, one may go so far as to say that the whole pedigree stock of the country has been built up by those holding large farms. It is—or rather was—my intention to increase my herd still further to try to do what I could to help with the supply of bulls to meet the requirements of the recently passed Live-Stock Bill; but I am full of fears of the arrival of the official.

When this Land Act first came into being it was, I think, generally assumed that the compulsory taking of land was only to apply to unoccupied demesne lands, derelict outfarms and the like; but since the recent statements in the Dail by Ministers and inquiries in the country by the Land Commission suspicions and fears have become general. Initiative is destroyed by uncertainty. What is the good of laying out works of improvement—buildings, drainage, tree-planting, livestock, etc.—under such conditions and of giving extra employment by such?

What is wanted is an immediate and definite statement by the Government as to whether or not all holdings are to be reduced to the £100 level, or whether those that are at present being utilised to good advantage are to be exempt. The whole system is illogical, unfair and one-sided—in fact, partial confiscation. Out-and-out all round nationalisation is at least a tenable, comprehensible policy, but under this system some "playboy" who calls himself a landless man can get land which has been the property of another family for generations; and, as I understand, there is nothing to prevent him from selling his interest shortly afterwards, or cropping good land to destruction, or letting it on conacre, all of which things have been known to happen quite frequently. If anyone has a claim to part of a farm which has been worked, surely it is the labourers who have worked it—often for generations, too—rather than landless men from another district.

The Government seems at last to be awakening to the greatest of all the farmer's needs at the present time—the supply of credit on easy terms—but at the same moment, with one truly Gilbertian stroke, it has reduced the farmer's greatest asset—the title deeds of his land—to practically nothing on account of the uncertainty of the position.

The whole social and economic fabric of this country rests on the farming population, but there is not a single member of the Government with any real knowledge of agriculture and its needs. True, Mr. Hogan is an owner of land, and one cannot but acknowledge the good of his work so far as it goes; but he was educated and brought up in the legal profession, I understand, and one cannot fail to notice that often in the Dail he seems to be out of sympathy with the farming community. Agriculture, and therefore the country, will never come to its best until there is in the Government a certain proportion of men of real agricultural education, upbringing and understanding who are intimately acquainted with agricultural conditions and requirements.—Yours, etc.,

THE PLIGHT OF LUCAN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The stoppage of the tram service and lighting is directly treaceable to the action of the British Government in taking over the undertaking during the Great War and the consequent raising of wages, etc., to a level which the concern could not bear when left again to its own resources. The 'bus competition, no doubt, put on the finishing touches, but the Tramway Company could have put up a much stiffer fight had they not been saddled with an abnormal increase in running expenses. I remember being told at the time that the driver of a Lucan tram under the auspices of the British Government was paid on the same lavish scale as the driver of a London and North-Western express passenger train.

The Irish Government, with a view, no doubt, to prevent a similar collapse of the other small railways, and to ensure better service and cheaper administrative charges, encouraged and finally achieved the amalgamation of all the railways in the Free State, with the exception of the Lucan and Blessington trams. At the time when these amalgamations were being discussed in the Dail it was urged that all the railways without exception should be merged in one, as had practically been the case under the British régime, but the President pointed out, and I think rightly, that the Dublin United Tramways Company were the natural allies of these local light railways.

Since the Government negatived the inclusion of the Lucan tram with the railways, and themselves suggested a joining up with the city trams, it seems to me that it is the Government's duty now to do something to further that end. Instead, however, they are being blamed for standing in the way of the proposal. The City Commissioners, on whose shoulders the blame is sought to be shifted, are the creatures of the Government, and would, doubtless, be amenable to a direction from them.—Yours, etc.,

THE CATTLE TRADE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Writing from the point of view of a person who was brought up in rural Ireland, and for years in contact with the livestock business, the article by "Artifex" in your issue of to-day, appears to me to be of high importance. Is it news of utter disaster or merely a warning? The diagrams and the article suggest utter catastrophe. The irregularities as regard cattle and sheep are ominous enough, but what about diagram "B" which shows that the export of pigs is only one-fifth of that of the corresponding period last year? The pig has been described as "the gintleman who pays the rent" (now annuity) and also as a "savings bank." Have we raided our savings unduly?—Yours, etc.,

AUCTIONEER'S VISITORS.

ROSCOMMON CONSPIRACY CHARGE.

Two young men, James O'Brien and Patrick Mulvey, were charged at the Boyle District Court with having on the 26th June last, at Breanletter, conspired to rob Mr. John Moran, auctioneer and law clerk, while armed with revolvers, and with demanding the sum of £250 from him.

Sergeant Cronin, who arrested the accused, said that O'Brien made a statement in the course of which he stated that he was living in Wigan (Lancs.) for the last three years. Three months ago he met Mulvey there, and they often spoke of getting money from John Moran, whom O'Brien said owed his father £200. He and Mulvey decided to come to Ireland to get the money, and they arrived in Mohill soon afterwards. On the night of June 25th they were in Drumshambo and had some drink, and went to Moran's house at 3 o'clock in the morning. O'Brien stated that he had a small revolver which could not be fired and Mulvey had a broken revolver. They knocked up the Morans, and O'Brien told Mrs. Moran, who spoke from a window, that he wanted the £200 that Mr. Moran owed his father. After a time Mr. Moran came down and said that he would get the money at Drumshambo. Mulvey went away, and O'Brien said that he remained in Moran's place until 9.30, when he accompanied Moran to Drumshambo. When they were going towards the bank Moran knocked him down, and the Civic Guards arrived and brought them to the station.

Mr. John Moran gave evidence as to the visit of the two men to his house. He said that he never saw Mulvey before. Both men put revolvers to his breast, and he promised to get the money for them in Drumshambo.

The witness was cross-examined as to the sale of Martin Harvey's farm, for which Patrick O'Brien was a bidder.

Mr. Slattery, the District Justice, said that on the cross-examination no jury would convict the prisoners on the charge, as it was framed. Apparently they had a grievance, though they did an illegal thing, and he bound them to the peace for twelve months.

FATAL COLLISION.

MOTOR CAR AND BICYCLE.

Dr. O'Hart, Coroner, on Wednesday evening held an inquest at Ballymote on the body of John Mullen, postmaster, who had been killed that day in a collision with a motor car when cycling from Laragh to Achonry, County Sligo.

John C. Finan, who was a passenger in the car, said that he saw a horse and cart at the corner of the road leading to Laragh. The driver of the motor car blew his horn twice, at intervals. He first saw Mullen when the motor car was passing the cart, and he felt the force of an impact. The cyclist was carried three or four yards, and was crushed between the motor car and baulks of timber on the roadside.

Dr. Flannery, of Tubbercurry, described Mullen's injuries, which included perforation of the stomach, the protrusion of portions of the liver and spleen, as the result of wounds, and the fracture of four ribs.

The jury found that Mullen died of injuries caused by his being knocked down by a motor car. They added a rider calling the County Council's attention to the dangerous state of the roads, and urging that the obstructions should be removed and that reckless driving should be stopped.

Patrick Mulligan, of Sligo, driver of the car, was arrested on a charge of causing Mullen's death, and was remanded on bail to Tubbercurry District Court.

VALUE OF ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION.

LIFE SAVED AT GREYSTONES.

A bather at Greystones, Co. Wicklow, on Wednesday evening, narrowly escaped drowning. On his way down to the water he turned to speak to his wife, and on walking backwards towards the sea tripped over a large stone and fell into the sea. His head appears to have struck another stone, which stunned him, and he began to float out to sea. His wife's cries attracted a man working at telegraph wires, who ran down and pulled the injured man ashore, where he lay unconscious.

Mr. William Sparling, of Greystones, was passing in his motor boat, Gladys, and when his attention was called to the case he applied artificial respiration, with the assistance of two priests, and in about an hour the injured man showed signs of life. He was given Bovril from a neighbouring café, and when Dr. Harden Smith arrived the man was making good progress. The doctor directed the artificial respiration to be continued, and in about three hours' time the rescued man was able to walk away. But for Mr. Sparling's timely application of restorative measures the man's life might have been lost. Mr. Sparling, under the Board of Trade, demonstrates the method of artificial respiration in the Greystones Rocket Brigade.

PEACEFUL COUNTY ANTRIM.

LORD JUSTICE MOORE'S COMMENTS.

"I doubt whether in the palmiest days of the county, when the population was necessarily smaller than now, there was ever a better record so far as the criminal returns were concerned," declared Lord Justice Moore in his address to the Grand Jury at the opening of the County Antrim Assizes yesterday. The population of County Antrim was almost 200,000, he added, and since the last Assizes the total amount of crime reported to the police was the small, insignificant figure of 37, which included no serious crime.

A LAMB IN THE LIFFEY.

An unknown man, diving to the aid of a lamb struggling in the Liffey near Church street Bridge, Dublin, yesterday morning, attracted a large crowd of spectators, who watched the lamb's vain endeavours to cross the river. It had escaped from a creel and jumped over the river wall. The police obtained a boat and were making to the lamb's assistance, but his rescuer reached him first and brought him out of the water in an exhausted condition.

CORK DOG SHOW.

200 ENTRIES.

Yesterday was the concluding day of the Munster Agricultural Society's Summer Show at Cork. Though the attendance of visitors was not so good as on the previous day, when the gate takings amounted to the substantial sum of £784, fairly large numbers were present. The chief attraction yesterday was a championship dog show, organised by the Society in conjunction with the Cork Irish Blue Terrier Club and St. Patrick's Canine Association. From every point of view the meeting was a huge success. There were 94 classes, catering for every breed of dog, and two hundred animals were entered. The task of judging was a long and arduous one for the judges, who expressed appreciation of the high quality of the dogs entered in all the classes.

It was really a field day for dog lovers, who gathered in large numbers to admire the fine array of animals, ranging from the tiny Pekingese to the great Alsatian wolf dog. Of the latter breed, Mr. J. G. P. Grogan's Apollo of Alave is a magnificent animal, and well deserved the three prizes that he won. The entrants for the Irish Red Setters Classes made a fine show, too, and Mr. H. L. Whitwell, the well-known cross-Channel authority on this breed, found great difficulty in deciding on the best dogs. Oonah of Boyne, the international champion Irish red setter, is a splendid type of the class, and yesterday she won her eleventh championship and 157th prize. Champion Coolfada, of the same breed, carried off his third championship in Ireland. He has already won three in England. Altogether it was a first rate show.

WAR-TIME TRAFFIC.

CORK SOCIETY'S CLAIM DISMISSED.

The War Compensation Court, London, yesterday dismissed a claim by the liquidator of the Irish Creameries Protection Society, 21 Merchant's quay, Cork, for compensation in respect of timber which, it was alleged, had been delayed in transit.

It was stated that during the war the British Government purchased the exportable surplus of Irish butter, and that it was essential that the butter should be packed in boxes of a certain kind. There was danger of a great shortage of boxes, and on August 25, 1917, the society purchased from Sweden prepared wood for the making of 48,800 "pyramid butter boxes." The goods were shipped on December 14th and arrived at Hull on December 29th. Owing to congestion on the railway and delay in transit in Liverpool, the final portion of the consignment did not arrive in Cork until July 29th, 1918.

The timber then was not in good order, and 581 bundles were missing. The delay deprived the society of orders and customers.

The Chairman (Sir Francis Taylor) said that there was no evidence of interference with the transit of the goods. He suggested that the claim should be withdrawn.

The liquidator (Mr. H. Woods) said that he would prefer the Court to dismiss the case rather than that it should be withdrawn.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Thursday.

WHEAT opened easy, 2c. to 1½c. lower. Prices declined owing to bearish cables, a disappointing export inquiry and liquidation, also on larger country offerings, favourable weather and lower outside markets. A reaction then set in, and values improved due to commission house buying, covering of shorts, less favourable weather predicted from the North-West and black rust spreading in Dakota, but again depreciated on larger receipts, small seaboard clearances, a disappointing outside demand and Russian competition. The market closed easy at 1c. to ⅛c. loss on the day. Spot steady.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

"SHE KILLED HIM."

CONDEMNED MAN AND VICTIM'S WIFE.

SORDID CROOM CASE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

"You may arrest Mrs. Walsh as well as me. I did not kill him. She killed him with the hatchet. I held his hands; she struck two blows, and he died."

This statement, alleged to have been made by Michael Talbot on his arrest, was given in evidence against him yesterday, when he was put forward charged with the wilful murder of Edward Walsh, his uncle, at Fedamore, Croom, Co. Limerick, on the night of 24th October, 1924. He was found guilty and was sentenced to be hanged on Wednesday, August 5th. A certificate of appeal was refused.

Annie Walsh, the widow of the murdered man, is also charged with the crime, and she was put back for separate trial on the application of her counsel, Mr. R. Brereton Barry. She was stated to be between 30 and 40 years of age; her husband was about 60 years, and Talbot about 30 years.

A CONSPIRACY.

Guard Lavin told the jury that Mrs. Walsh went to Fedamore Civic Guards' barracks on the morning of Saturday, October 25th, shortly before 8 o'clock. She said to him: "Tell the sergeant to come down; my husband was shot dead last night by Michael Talbot." When he asked her why she had not reported the matter sooner, she replied: "I was frightened I would be killed." About two years ago, the witness added, Mrs. Walsh accused Talbot of being at her house and firing shots. He had been imprisoned since for assaulting her.

Guard Kenny gave evidence that he searched Talbot's house on Saturday, 25th October, at midnight, and found Talbot lying on a platform under the roof and near the porch. When charged and cautioned he made the statement given above.

The guard searched Talbot and found in his pockets a ring and a religious badge, which, he said, were given to him by Mrs. Walsh. On the way to Mrs. Walsh's house, where a wake was being held, Talbot said: "Was she not to get £20 over the last case, and she was to divide it with me? She expected to get compensation for Ned. I was to keep out of the way until she got the money. She was to come to me, and we were to go away together. I will show you the hatchet she killed him with."

The witness went on to say that he and Talbot arrived at Mrs. Walsh's house at about 1.15 o'clock a.m. A number of people had assembled for the "wake." He arrested Mrs. Walsh in the kitchen.

His Lordship—Was the corpse in the kitchen?—No, in the bedroom.

When he cautioned Mrs. Walsh, the witness continued, she said: "I did not kill my husband; I will swear to that." She accused Talbot of the crime.

THE HATCHET.

When the witness found two hatchets in a room in the house, Talbot pointed to the larger one and said: "That's the one she killed him with." Mrs. Walsh said: "You are a liar."

Mr. Lennon (instructed by Mr. Bourke), for the defence—When you stood up on the table to get to where Talbot was lying on the platform in his own house did you shout at him: "Come down, you murderer"?—No.

Sergeant McGrath deposed to finding the kitchen of Walsh's house in a state of disorder when he visited it on the Saturday morning. The body was lying across the fireplace; it was quite stiff and cold, and was fully dressed, even to a cap. The boots were unlaced. Though it was daylight, a lamp was burning. The bedroom was tidy. The bed was "made," and no one appeared to have slept in it during the night.

"WOULD GET COMPENSATION."

At Limerick Civic Guard barracks on the 26th October Talbot made a statement to the effect that on the previous Thursday night he met Annie Walsh, who said to him: "Come over Friday night and we will kill Ned." She said that she would get compensation for his death; half of this she would give to him; and the two of them then would go away together. He called at the house on the following night at 10 o'clock. The door was open, and the woman and her husband were carrying a big stick into the kitchen. The stick fell against the door, and, complaining that her arm had been hurt, Mrs. Walsh asked Talbot to assist them.

The three stood talking at the kitchen fire for a couple of hours, and then Mrs. Walsh asked her husband to go out for another stick to keep the fire "red." When he was going out she picked up a hatchet and put it under her apron. Presently her husband returned with a stick and sat down before the fire. She immediately lowered the light and brought the hatchet down on his head, and he fell right across the fire, kicking.

"She told me to hold his hands," Talbot's statement went on. "I held his hands. She drew the second blow at him. He did not stir then any more. She brought the light into the bedroom, and she told me stop with her until morning. She said she would go to the Guards when I was gone, and that she would get money out of his death and would give me half of it, and we would go away. She said she would sell the cottage. I stopped there until 6.30 o'clock in the morning in the bed with her. I went away then home. She gave me a ring and a Sacred Heart badge when I was going away. She told me not to let the Guards see me until she would get the money."

The female prisoner protested that this statement was untrue. At 12 o'clock, when she and her husband were in bed, she said, Talbot knocked on the door. She said, "No admission in after hours," and he thereupon forced in the door and entered the kitchen. He was drunk. By this time she and her husband were sitting by the fire. Talbot struck down her husband with his fist, lowered the lamp when she refused to do it for him, and then shot her husband in the head. He stopped with her until the morning, and kept her down by the throat.

Talbot, in court, denied the woman's statement in its entirety. He added that Mrs. Walsh got up several times during the night and looked out to see whether anyone was listening.

Dr. William Hedderman, local medical officer, deposed that the wounds on the murdered man's head might have been caused by a hatchet. There were no bullets in the brain and no trace of bullet wounds.

A number of witnesses were examined for the purpose of showing that no shots were fired on the night in question.

Mr. Lennon, in his address to the jury, suggested that, dominated by a passionate woman, Talbot was incapable of distinguishing between right and wrong.

Especially in Hot Weather
You cannot afford to take chances with your baby's health in hot, muggy weather when so-called "nursery" or "pasteurised" milk so quickly becomes sour, and may contain disease-producing bacteria. For as an eminent authority stated at the National Milk Conference in London, November 1923:—
"The pasteurisation of milk as practised commercially in this country is not likely to destroy the common disease-producing bacteria."
All hot weather risks and worry over baby's food disappear when baby has Glaxo. Glaxo is guaranteed free from disease-producing bacteria, and however hot and muggy the weather does not "go off" or become sour. Be safe, be sure!

STRABANE SHOW.

CAPITAL HORSES AND CATTLE.

FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.

STRABANE, Thursday.

Strabane Agricultural Society was unfortunate in the weather for its twenty-first annual show. During the early part of the day it was fine, though threatening. At about one o'clock it began to rain, and for those who entered the showyard afterwards, enjoyment of the afternoon's programme was somewhat spoiled. Taken all over, the entries compared favourably with those of a year ago, and the exhibits reached a high level of merit. Horses were particularly good, both in number and quality, special features being the classes for yearling blood horses and hunter brood mares.

In the cattle section there was a capital muster of pedigree Shorthorns. The entries were larger than last year, and Mr. W. G. Hoey, who judged, declared that the Shorthorns were the best that he had seen this season. Yearling bulls and two-year-old heifers were particularly good, while there was a fair muster of cows. Though limited in numbers, Aberdeen Angus made a good display. British Friesians were up to an average level, while there was a pleasing show of Jerseys.

Several improvements have been made in the showyard since last year, and the general arrangements were most satisfactorily carried out under the supervision of the Secretary, Mr. A. Snodgrass, V.S. The band of the 1st Royal Sussex Regiment performed during the day.

THE JUDGES.

The work of adjudication was entrusted to the following:—

Light and General Purpose Horses — Mr. John Kernohan, V.S.; Clydesdales—Mr. James Millen. Cattle, Shorthorns—Mr. W. G. Hoey; British Friesians—Mr. William McLaughlan; other breeds—Mr. W. R. Creswell. Sheep—Messrs. R. W. Bell and S. Shannon. Swine—Mr. Thomas Lindsay. Goats—Rev. R. J. McIlmoyle. Poultry—Mr. A. Robinson. Eggs, Butter, etc.—Mr. J. Kernohan.

Elliott's chestnut filly, Betty, was second; and Mr. B. Devine's chestnut colt, also by Fitzrichard, third.

For harness horses, any height, shown in hand, Mr. Fredlander's Derry Commander, a free-stepping Hackney stallion, was first; Mr. R. A. Lyons's Express second; and Mr. John Stewart's Miss Eileen third.

In the cob class Mr. J. Bamber's Not Guilty was first; Mr. T. Kelly's Peggy second; and Mr. J. W. Mutch's Nellie third.

Clydesdales made quite a good turn-out. Stallions were led by Mr. J. H. Wray's Ballyboley Favourite, a great-substanced son of the famous Baron Brilliant; Mr. M. Cowan's Flash Crusader, by Gay Crusader, was second; and Mr. William Shannon's Auchenfoot third.

Clarke with Anemone. She gave 50½lbs. of milk, with a butter fat test of 4.23 per cent. and a total of 93.31 points. The third prize went to the same competitor for his cow, Farran Honesty, with a yield of 50lbs. and a butter fat test of 3.72 and a total of 87.15 points.

NON-PEDIGREE DAIRY SHORTHORNS.

W. O'Callaghan was placed first with his cow, Robo. She yielded 58½ lbs. in 24 hours with a test average of 4.24 and secured a total of 97.83 points. J. O'Driscoll secured second prize with Diamond. Her yield was 47½lbs. with a test of 3.06 per cent. and a total of 88.18 points.

KERRIES.

Castlelough Mona was second with a yield of 38½lbs., a test of 3.97, and 66.47 points. With a yield of 33½lbs., a 3.83 test, and a total of 54.45 points, Castlelough Nita got third place.

Heavy rain which fell during the afternoon interfered with judging, and a full return of the principal prize-winners was not available.

FREE STATE PRESS GALLERY.

The annual general meeting of the members of the Oireachtas Press Gallery was held at Leinster House on Wednesday, Mr. W. Clarke, Belfast Telegraph (Chairman), presiding.

Reports on the year's working were submitted and adopted.

Complaint was made by members of the habit amongst some Ministers, Senators and Deputies of speaking in an undertone, thereby making the accurate reporting of their observations extremely difficult, if not impossible.

The following officers were re-elected:—Chairman—Mr. W. Clarke, Belfast Telegraph; Hon. Treasurer—Mr. John Collins, Irish Times; Hon. Secretary—Mr. F. J. Geary, Irish Independent. The following were appointed, with the officers, to act as the Executive Committee:—Messrs. M. Harrington, Cork Examiner; M. J. Linnane, Irish Independent; A. Garbutt, Irish Times, and J. Taylor, Evening Mail.

BUY IRISH GOODS.

APATHY ABOUT A VITAL QUESTION.

The Permanent Exhibition of Irish manufactures and products has been transferred from Upper Sackville street to 3 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin. The new premises, which are much more suitable for the purposes of the exhibition, were formally declared open last evening by Sir John Irwin, President of the Dublin Industrial Development Association.

Sir John Irwin mentioned that the premises had been acquired and the exhibition transferred without any outside assistance. The income of the organisation was derived from voluntary subscriptions and from the letting of space in the exhibition.

In view of the fact that the Association was not conducted for personal profit or gain but in the national interest, the Council felt that it should not be called upon to pay rates like an ordinary trading firm, but in that respect it had been unable to obtain relief.

APATHY.

Founded over twenty years ago, the Association had laboured consistently and uninterruptedly in the interests of home manufactures, and had striven to impress upon the Irish public and Irish public bodies the necessity of giving practical support and encouragement to Irish industries. During the British régime much progress was made in that direction, but it was to be regretted that for some time past considerable apathy had prevailed, notwithstanding the parlous condition of many industries and the amount of unemployment. He was sorry to say that the apathy was to be found in quarters where one would not expect to meet with it. That was not creditable, to say the least of it.

They hoped to hold on August 8th another industrial pageant like that held last year.

People should not imagine that tariffs alone would make the country prosperous. The employer and the employé should realise that the duty devolved equally upon them to work in harmony, to give of their best, to compose their differences and disputes without inflicting injury upon the community generally. The State demanded that of them.

Stability and security were essential factors if capitalists were to be induced to invest money in Irish industries.

He trusted that those manufacturers who had not yet applied for spaces in the exhibition would do so at once.

NEW EXHIBITORS.

Miss Somers, secretary, said that in the opening of the present premises they had the approval of all their exhibitors, and within three weeks nearly £400 worth of space had been let to new exhibitors.

Senator O'Dea, in proposing "That the Dublin Industrial Development Association is worthy of support of all classes," spoke of the importance of increasing production.

Mr. J. Campbell seconded the resolution, which was supported by Colonel Crean, Mr. W. Field and others, and passed unanimously.

In bringing the meeting to a close, Sir John Irwin paid a tribute to the energy and ability of Miss Somers.

The Misses Frazer's band played a selection of music at an interval, during which tea was served.

DUBLIN PROPERTY MARKET.

At Messrs. Battersby's salerooms yesterday six various lots of property were offered for sale, for most of which there was a good deal of bidding. The first item was the business premises 149A Phibsborough road, with the good-will attached, which was sold for £1,500, the purchaser paying auctioneers' commission. Nos. 9 to 15 Sydney terrace, which are occupied houses, all found a new purchaser, and No. 18 Rutland street was also sold. The solicitors concerned were Messrs. Doyle and Co., Charles Magwood, W. J. Ryan, J. M. McDowell and Co., William Moore and Sons, C. J. Reddy and Son. John Garvey, Ballina; Stritch and Stritch, and Francis Clinch.

The Earl of Balfour and Mr. Amery had an audience of the King yesterday.

CIRCUIT COURT APPEAL.

STANDARD RENT OF DUBLIN HOUSE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND MR. JUSTICE O'SHAUGHNESSY.)

Mr. John P. Cotter appealed against a decision of Circuit Judge Dromgoole fixing the standard rent of the house, 2 Belvidere place, Dublin, at £48, and apportioning the rent amongst the tenants in occupation.

Mr. J. A. Costello, K.C., who, with Mr. Louis O'Doherty (instructed by Joseph H. (Dixon), appeared for the appellent, said that it would work a tremendous hardship on Captain Cotter if the rents were decreased to such an appalling extent as the Order of the Circuit Court would bring them. For instance, in the case of one of the tenants, a rent of £70 a year would be reduced to 5s. a week. In addition, the landlord would be faced with the possibility of having to pay back all rent over that figure. The case turned on the question whether the landlord had bona fide reconstructed the premises by way of conversion into two or more self-contained flats. He submitted that such had been done, that Captain Cotter had laid in separate water and gas supply and bells, and on the top floor had erected a partition.

Mr. Arthur Meredith, K.C., who with Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by T. J. Graham), appeared for the respondents and tenants, said that there had been no such reconstruction of the premises as was required by the Act. There must be not merely legal reconstruction, but physical reconstruction, by virtue of substantial structural alterations. The landlord had not carried out these alterations, and therefore counsel submitted the Order of the Circuit Judge should stand.

Mr. Justice Sullivan said that on the evidence before him the Circuit Judge had come to the conclusion that the premises had not been bona fide reconstructed. They were of opinion that that decision was right, and accordingly refused the appeal.

Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy concurred.

COUNTY SHERIFF FINED

FOR DRIVING CAR AT 36 MILES AN HOUR.

Mr. William M. McCracken, Sheriff for County Dublin, was fined £6 by Mr. Cooper, K.C., at Kingstown District Court yesterday, for driving a motor car at the speed of 36 miles an hour.

Mr. Collins, solicitor for the defence, said that Mr. McCracken was quite unconscious that he was travelling at such a speed. The road was wide at the place, and there was not much traffic on it.

Mr. Cooper, remarking that he had to deal with facts, pointed out that Mr. McCracken had a mechanical means on his car by which he could ascertain his speed, but had not taken the ordinary and prudent care of looking at it. In all the circumstances he must impose a fine of £6—£1 for every mile over 30 miles.

DALKEY HOTEL PROPRIETOR SUMMONED.

The District Justice at Kingstown yesterday reserved his decision in a case in which T. Murphy, proprietor of the Cliff Castle Hotel, Dalkey, was summoned for having kept alcoholic liquor for sale without a licence.

Sergeant Connolly stated that he found a number of whiskey and wine bottles, mostly empty, and some dozens of stout at the hotel.

For the defence, guests at the hotel stated that they had ordered the stout for their own use. It was not purchased from Murphy.

The organisers of a "surprise party" who rented rooms at the hotel for a dance said that they brought their own refreshments. They left a number of empty bottles in the place.

The defendant denied that he had sold drink.

Especially in Hot Weather

You cannot afford to take chances with your baby's health in hot, muggy weather when so-called "nursery" or "pasteurised" milk so quickly becomes sour, and may contain disease-producing bacteria! For as an eminent authority stated at the National Milk Conference in London, November 1923:—

"The pasteurisation of milk as practised commercially in this country is not likely to destroy the common disease-producing bacteria."

All hot weather risks and worry over baby's food disappear when baby has Glaxo. Glaxo is guaranteed free from disease-producing bacteria, and however hot and muggy the weather does not "go off" or become sour. Be safe, be sure!

A DISAPPOINTING DAY.

JANE PIERNEY FAILS.

MODERATE FIELDS AT SALISBURY.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

SALISBURY, Thursday Night.

The racing on this, the last day of the Bibury Club meeting assayed very little to the ton. What should have been a good race for the Champagne Stakes was a disappointing one, no matter in what way one looks at it. It produced only five runners, and backers cheerfully laid odds on Jane Pierney, who had made such a promising début at Ascot, only to see her run without ever holding a shadow of a chance. Only the Reprisal filly was backed against her, and the respective jockeys seemed to be trying to beat each other at the gate, with the result that the tapes were broken several times.

When they did go up to a fair start Reprisal filly jumped off in front of Jane Pierney and Sunny View, a 10 to 1 chance, owned by Mr. James White. They had not gone much more than half-way when Jane Pierney was seen to be in difficulties, and her chance was gone. Sunny View then went on after Reprisal filly, and, most vigorously ridden by Pryor, got up in the last fifty yards to make a dead heat. Three lengths away Jane Pierney finished third.

Only four moderate animals turned out for the Alington Plate, and, with odds of 5 to 2 laid on him, Dark Fox won in a canter by ten lengths. Mr. Ben Runciman, who was Captain Hogg's partner in a veterinary practice in Johannesburg when the Russley trainer was in South Africa, is amusing himself here by training a few platers, and one of them, Fairly Well, won the Opening Selling Plate, beating the favourite, Polypodium, by a neck. Envoy descended to plating company, and, with his owner, Mr. Harry Brown, up, beat Royal Hussar by a half length in the Wallop Plate. There was only one good field during the afternoon. This was in the Downton Handicap, in which Golden Bud, well ridden by the boy, Kirby, beat the favourite, Diameter, by two lengths, with sixteen other runners behind, and, what is more, was well expected to do so by Sir Charles Nugent's stable, which has been in excellent form during the last month.

Better Racing To-morrow.

It is likely that there will be better racing at Lingfield Park to-morrow afternoon than we have seen during the past four days, where some of the sport has been only fair to moderate. There will be some good class horses in the field for the Lingfield Park Plate, which is worth £1,000. One of these is the Victoria Cup winner, Creolian. The scale of penalties, however, puts him rather higher in the weights than if the race were a handicap, and on the Royal Hunt Cup running he has no pretensions to beat Blue Pete, who ran extremely well at Ascot, after starting in a bad position. It was in this self-same race last year that Blue Pete covered the mile in 1 minute 33 seconds. This is a record for a mile in England, and although Blue Pete's time is not generally accepted as correct, it is near enough to show that he is a very fast horse on this course. Motley has some sort of chance, but Hussein, who has shown improvement every time he has run, has a better one, and as he is favourably treated in the scale of weights and receives 19lb. from Blue Pete, it should be a close thing between them. I give a slight preference to BLUE PETE.

There should be a spirited contest for the Jack's Bridge Two-Year-Old Plate, in which a smart Tetrarch filly, trained by Dawson Waugh, Roman Maid, will make her first appearance. She will be opposed by several with more experience, like Some June, the Vale colt, and Part One, and although later in the season she may beat all those here she may not be quite ready yet. Hope, who was known as the Espere colt, when he ran well on a couple of occasions, will be ridden by Archibald, and is fancied on his last running. However, he may not beat PART ONE, who is the choice here. Mr. Landale Wilson, a newcomer to the Turf, gave a very big sum for Watford earlier in the year, and the colt has not yet earned anything towards it. He is, however, given a chance of winning the Summer Handicap, where the distance, a mile and five furlongs, will suit. Gloaming has a sort of chance, and so has Mafoota, but WATFORD stands out the best-class animal in the race, and if he is worth anything like the money paid for him he should win, with Mafoota as the danger.

There is a promise of good racing also at Pontefract, which has a two-year-old event worth £800. This is the Prince of Wales's Plate, in which Mr. Clever, Bognor, and Glen Albyn run. Frank Hartigan also runs a promising Buchan filly called Fleurie, who has made only a single appearance—in the Queen Mary Stakes at Ascot. BOGNOR has seemed to me a very promising colt, who may show at his best on a severe course like this, and I choose him to win. Prompt was only narrowly beaten by Black Sheep at Newmarket last week after finishing behind Red Theo at Newcastle a week earlier. On that form RED THEO should have no difficulty in beating Lost Pearl in the Kilnwick Handicap. EXPLOSION, in the Duchy Apprentice Plate, should continue the winning vein of Captain Boyd-Rochfort, who took a couple of races at the meeting this afternoon with Henry the Seventh and Star Bright.

GALTEE MORE.

POLO.

ALL-IRELAND CLUB.

The weather, unfortunately, broke down for yesterday's match at the A.I.P.C., and there was only a small attendance.

The sides were Herons and Hawks, and a somewhat patchy game resulted in a win for Hawks by 5 goals to 3. On paper, the match looked good for Herons, but they did not pull so well together as their opponents, and at times were outpaced. They started off well by scoring twice without response in the first period, but thereafter they had to fight uphill. Mr. Trench was in excellent form for the winners, and was splendidly suported by Mr. Arnott. Mr. Cullinan played a sound game at back for Herons.

HAWKS (5) v. HERONS (3).

Herons scored in the first couple of minutes, Captain Martin hitting through from close range. Hawks should have equalised subsequently, but the ball was hit out. Herons outpaced their opponents during the remainder of this period, and just before the change of ponies Mr. Cullinan hit up to Captain Goulding, who put his side 2 up. Hawks attacked at the opening of the second chukkar, and Mr. Shackleton reduced his side's arrears with a fine cut shot. Then came the equalising goal from the stick of Mr. Larminie. The same player hit behind his own goal in the next minute, but the ball was sent wide from the free. Hawks went into the lead before the change, Mr. Arnott hitting through after a good try by Mr. Larminie. Good play by Captain Martin and Mr. Johnston brought about the equalising goal, the latter scoring from an easy position. Hawks, however, gained the lead again in the next minute, Mr. Arnott scoring from a hit up by Mr. Trench. In the last chukkar they galloped from end to end, and both goals were seriously threatened before Mr. Arnott brought the ball cleverly from midfield, and wound up with a good goal. Teams:—

Herons—Captain G. Martin, Mr. J. Johnston, Captain Lingard Goulding, and Mr. P. D. Cullinan (back).

Hawks—Mr. J. P. A. Larminie, Mr. Maxwell Arnott, Mr. J. A. B. Trench, and Mr. J. W. Shackleton (back.)

Umpires—Major Kirkwood and Mr. W. Fitzgerald.

To-morrow (Saturday) — Pelicans v. Storks, 4.30; Pawns v. Rooks, 5-30.

Pawns — Mr. Larminie, Mr. M. Arnott, Mr. Trench, and Mr. J. W. Shackleton.

DUNDALK.

IMPROVED SPORT.

A DOUBLE FOR MADDENSTOWN.

There was a distinct improvement in the class of the racing at Dundalk yesterday. Fields again ruled small, but there were some very fine finishes. The day being half-holiday in Dundalk the attendance also showed an improvement, and the weather held fine until late in the afternoon, when some light rain fell. Mr. J. J. Parkinson carried off the chief training honours, winning races with Trim Gate and Yam, the only horses he ran at the meeting.

Trim Gate and Louvois Star, the fancied candidates for the Holiday Hurdle Race, fought out a splendid finish, of which the former got the better by a short head. Pallasgreen, after making a bold showing for a mile, dropped out, and from this stage onwards Trim Gate and Louvois Star contested every yard of the journey. Trim Gate had been making mistakes at the hurdles in the early stages, but improved, and once the last obstacle was negotiated took the lead and held it to the end.

The Maddenstown Lodge stable's only other runner was Yam, who, in the hands of W. Redmond, gave a generous display in the Clanbrassil Plate, which she won readily from Rhea. Tailte ran in very disappointing style in the Kilherly Plate, for which she was favourite, and the race fell an easy prey to All Put, who is trained by Mr. J. H. Wallace at Shinrone, Roscrea. River Suir, by bolting at the first hurdle, threw his rider and interfered with Molly Malone, but even if this had not happened the result would not have been different, for Mr. Corbett's mare won with a good bit in hand. The Baldoyle winner, Knockeffer, with only a 7lb. penalty in the 'Chasers' Plate, had an easy task to dispose of Boinne-na-Brugh.

Sulphuric Acid had an obvious chance of winning the Louth Plate on his running the previous day, when he ran a good race with Ratify, who now met him on 22lb. worse terms. Disregarding this, backers elected to support Snare, Charabanc and Oppressormore in preference, but Sulphuric Acid made an example of the lot, leading all through and winning in easy style. He was ridden by a thirteen-year-old youngster, J. Coldrick, who had never previously won a race, but shaped in a style to suggest that many more successes would come his way in the future.

Striped Silk, after her success at Roscommon on Tuesday, came on to the meeting to run for the Stewards' Plate, but found the task of conceding 14lb. to Privit's Pride beyond her. It was an interesting race, however, and it was only in the last furlong that the son of Privit pulled the race out of the fire. Details —

MAZE JULY RACE MEETING.

It is over thirty-five years since steeplechasing was included in the Maze July racing programme, and as considerable interest is taken in steeplechasing and point-to-point racing in Northern Ireland, the Executive of the Down Royal Corporation decided this year to provide a couple of steeplechases on their programme for next week's meeting. They have received most valuable assistance towards this object by the generosity of the members of the Irish Ring, who have subscribed two-thirds of the stake, and of the residents of Lisburn and the immediate neighbourhood, who have come forward and provided the balance of the money required, thanks to the efforts of Dr. Murphy and Mr. Philip Corken, of Lisburn, who undertook the task of collectors. It is a promising and welcome sign that the old love of the horse and interest in horse racing still survives, and the support already given, not only from the handsome subscriptions received, but also from the owners and trainers of race horses, is most encouraging to the Maze Executive to continue their efforts to keep the Maze Race Meeting running on until the general conditions improve and racing returns to its prosperous condition prior to 1914.

Every effort has been put forward by the management to render the racing tracks at the Maze in as perfect condition as is possible. The landing sides at each hurdle and fence have been forked over and top-dressed with the finest sand, and a supply of turf mould has been dumped at each fence on the steeplechase course, which can be spread on the ground if found necessary.

PONTEFRACT

GOOD FIELDS.

HENRY THE SEVENTH WINS CHIEF EVENT.

Another fine afternoon attracted a fair company for the second day's proceedings at Pontefract, and with runners turning out in fairly strong numbers the racing was well up to the standard of the opening day. The Borough T.Y.O. Plate gave backers a good start, for Eagleshoit, the mount of Thwaites, on which slight odds had to be laid, came away at the distance to win by half a length from Johndam.

Master Percy was made chief fancy for the Innkeepers' Selling Handicap, but failed to last home, Smirke on Ferdia coming with a well-timed run to score by two lengths.

The Park Hill Maiden Plate found eleven saddled, but the chief business in the Ring concerned Ephemeral filly and Marjingo. J. Taylor on Marjingo waited until half-way up the straight, where he came along on the outside to win with plenty in hand.

Perfectus was not saddled for the Great West Riding Handicap, so that only five went to the post. Sosie, as expected, was favourite, and had every appearance of justifying the confidence, but both Corcyrian and Henry The Seventh came at him at the distance, the favourite weakened, and Henry The Seventh got up to win a very interesting race by three-parts of a length.

Coral Wreath had been unlucky when beaten by Niloak at Haydock Park, but she made amends for it in the Alexandra Handicap; and Star Bright in the Castle Plate made hacks of Town Villa and Pretty Dolly to complete a double for Mr. M. Field, Boyd Rochfort, and McLachlan, junior, as owner, trainer, and jockey respectively.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The chief attraction for the concluding day at Pontefract is the Prince of Wales's Plate, which will be contested by some good juveniles. Brazen will not be saddled for this, and Forest Dance may not succeed in giving the weight to some of the others engaged. The fact that Bognor has been sent here in preference to Lingfield points to the chance of Mr. Sol Joel's gelding, who ran Nothing Venture to a length at York in May. Glen Albyn should prove the best of the Northern-trained entrants, but may not prove equal to conceding 3lb. to Bognor, and I make the unsexed son of Pommern my choice. Selections:—

Airedale Handicap—Martenax.
Brackenhill Handicap—Rosemary.
Went Plate—Bossover.
Prince of Wales's Plate—Bognor.
Kilnwick Handicap—Chrysolite.

IRISH BREEDERS' PRODUCE STAKES.

TO-MORROW'S RACE AT PHŒNIX PARK

It is now certain that Fohanaun will not take part in the £1,000 Irish Breeders' Produce Stakes at Phœnix Park to-morrow, and it is also very unlikely that Resplendent will come across from Stockbridge; but, as we announced in yesterday's issue, Mr. Albert Lowry's colours will be borne by Bachelor's Tonic, who is one of H. Powney's charges at Newmarket. Ardsallagh will probably give way to Ligurian. J. Patman has been engaged to ride Golden Sunburst. Memories may not run, as she has been "stumped up" on the hard ground. The revised list of the probables is:—

DONALD SCOT, ch. c., by Orpiment—Sandy Bank (Major S. Cape) (Scully), 8-5...M. Wing.
*ARDSALLAGH, br. c., by Bachelor's Double, dam by Jaeger—Diavolezza (Mr. A. McCann) (Dawson), 8-5......——
KINGSCOURT, gr. c., by Roi Herode—Rumour (Major Shirley) (Rogers), 8-5 R. Cullen
GOLDEN SUNBURST, b. c., by Argosy—Dutch Lass (Mr. J. O'Grady) (Fordred), 8-5 ......J. Patman.
*MEMORIES, ch. f., by My Prince—Minway (Mr. F. Clarke) (Owner), 8-2... ——
ARGINA, b. f., by Argos—Lallerina (Mr. D. J. Cogan) (Rice), 8-2 ......D. Ward
LIGURIAN, br. g., by Honey Bee—Diavolezza (Mr. A. M'Cann) (Dawson), 8-2 E. M. Quirke.
MARLHILL LASS, ch. f., by Marlhill—Glynn (Mrs. W. P. Ryan) (Bell), 8-2 J. Dines
PURSUED, br. f., by Haki—Hunted Lady (Mr. J. T. Rogers) (Rogers), 8-2 ...A. Clarke
ADON-AI, b. g., by Bachelor's Craft—Sun Girl (Mr. D. J. Cogan) (Rice), 8-2 J. Moylan.
MORE MUSIC, br. f., by Righ Mor—Strand Melody (Mr. J. H. H. Peard) (Owner), 8-2 ......James Doyle.
BACHELOR'S TONIC, ch. g., by Captivation—Bachelor's Diamond (Mr. A. Lowry) (Powney), 8-2 ......J. Wadsworth.
*Doubtful starter.

SCULLING.

BERESFORD ACCEPTS HOOVER'S CHALLENGE.

J. Beresford, junior, holder of the Diamond Sculls, sent the following cablegram to the Philadelphia Gold Cup Committee yesterday:—

"Arranged race for Monday."

In that laconic message Britain's premier amateur sculler put an end to what was fast becoming an embarrassing situation. Beresford won the Gold Cup when he became Olympic champion, and the Philadelphians considered that the trophy carries with it the championship title. The Amateur Rowing Association is just as adamant in regarding the Diamonds Sculls as the emblem of championship. It was because of this that Beresford decided not to accept the challenge of Hoover for the Gold Cup, but to hand over that trophy to the American. Then representations were made by America urging that W. M. Hoover had travelled from U.S.A to England with the prime intention of racing for the Gold Cup, and an appeal was made to Beresford's "British sportsmanship." Beresford thereupon reconsidered the matter and decided to accede to American requests and to race Hoover. The race will, therefore, take place on the Thames from Putney Bridge, on Monday evening.

LINGFIELD.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME AND SELECTIONS.

A two-day fixture opens to-day at Lingfield Park, and, with the course having been carefully tended during the recent dry weather, good-sized fields can be confidently anticipated. The best endowed event on the card is the Lingfield Park Plate, and here Blue Pete will endeavour to concede weight all round, but may find the task a trifle beyond his compass. Creolian also appears to have plenty of weight, and I would rather take a chance with Motley, who, prior to finishing fourth to Sherwood Starr at Ascot, beat Domenico and Aske easily over a mile and a half at Hurst Park. Treasurer comes into the reckoning on his defeat of Tournesol and others at Birmingham, and Dracos is said to be fancied each way. My choice, however, falls on Hussein, the mount of Gordon Richards, and I expect to see Treasurer prove the most dangerous. The principal event for this season's horses is the Jack's Bridge Plate, and this race should be productive of an interesting struggle. Vale colt, reported to be R. Sherwood's best youngster, will not lack for admirers, and the fact that Some June dead-heated with the smart Dodder at the last Brighton meeting points to the chance of the Beckhampton filly. The three mentioned appear to stand out from the remainder, and it is with no great degree of confidence that I give Part One preference over the other pair. Selections:—

Waterside Handicap—Biblos.
Batnors Plate—Starwort filly.
Park Plate—Hussein.
Summer Handicap—Watford.
Jack's Bridge Plate—Part One.
Oak Tree Plate—Santa Savina.

THOUSAND GUINEAS TOURNAMENT.

SURPRISING RESULTS.

When practically all the leading players qualified for the match play stages of the Thousand Guineas Tournament at Moortown, Leeds, it was expected that some entertaining matches would ensue. Compston and Duncan, it was generally expected, would meet in the second round, but neither of them got through the first. Duncan was beaten by Barber, who won six holes running, four of them (the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth) being holed consecutively in 3's. Compston went to the last green with Gimber, and was also beaten.

Robson, who won the tournament last year, also succumbed in the first round, Ockenden easily beating him. E. Whitcombe and Boomer were in difficulties, but managed to get through, though they both went down in the second round. Havers joined the vanquished ones when C. Sayner beat him by 5 and 4, by which margin Gaudin disposed of Boomer. Only Ray of the best known players remains, and he had two vastly dissimilar matches. In the first round he won nine holes and halved one against Swain to win by the remarkable margin of 9 and 7, but in the second round he and C. Whitcombe had a great fight.

The first round results were:—

Hallam (Chorlton) beat Vardon (South Herts)—2 and 1.

Wingate (Templenewsam) beat E. Whitcombe (Came Down)—2 and 1.

Twine (Ashford Manor) beat Roberts (Stoke Poges)—5 and 4.

Rainford (North Shore, Blackpool) beat Leaver (Worsley)—4 and 3.

May (Benton Park) beat Ballantine (Sherwood Forest)—5 and 4.

Boomer (St. Cloud, Paris) beat Williamson (Notts)—2 up.

Gaudin (Alwoodley) beat Gadd (Roehampton)—3 and 2.

Ray (Oxhey) beat Swain (Walsall)—9 and 7.

Whitcombe (Crews Hill) beat Jarman (Stockport)—2 and 1.

Havers (Coombe Hill) beat Wilson (Croham Hurst)—2 up.

Sayner (Doncaster) beat Buckle (Edgbaston)—1 up.

Gimber (Seaham Harbour) beat Compston (North Manchester)—1 up.

Allis (Wanstead) beat Adams (Hampstead)—1 up.

Holland (Gerrards Cross) beat Scarth (Bolton)—7 and 5.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

TONE AND COMMENT.

BANK OF IRELAND DIVIDEND INCREASED.

Business on Change yesterday was of the quietest possible description, and points of interest and importance were altogether absent. Government National Funds were quieter, but British Funds were firm, even if dealing was confined to a couple of the leading stocks. The increased interim notified by the Bank of Ireland—12 per cent. per annum against 11 per cent. per annum, both free of income tax—did not alter the price until the later session, when it improved. Nationals were sold at a concession of ⅛. Royals show no alteration. Breweries and Distilleries were practically without alteration. Guinness Ord. rather tended to ease. Marconi Shares were at one time held for an advance, but later closed dull. Canadian Marconi Shares more than recovered the previous day's decline. Home Rails were quiet and dull. Dublin United Tramway Ord. and Pref. were quoted ex dividends. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were again supported at a further slight advance. Parent Trust Def. were quietly steady at previous day's level. Alliance Gas were wanted. Courtaulds rose slightly at one time, but closed under best, and Coats Shares, early in the day, were also the turn better, but finally closed unchanged. Cottons remain on sale, and fell sharply. Tobaccos were featureless. Lever Bros. Pref. issues were the turn easier. Vickers 5 per cent. Pref. mark a sharp fall on last business done level in this market.

LONDON MARKET FIRM.

RUBBERS BUOYANT.

A firm tone was maintained in the majority of sections of the London Stock markets yesterday, although the attention of members was occupied by the final details of the settlement. Business, with the exception of the Rubber market, where a lively business was transacted, was on a rather smaller scale. Gilt-edged securities made a firm start, but later relapsed from the best, and at the close, with one exception, prices were much the same as before. Owing to the reduction in the French Bank rate from 7 to 6 p.c., French Loans hardened further. Chinese issues also moved up, while a generally firm tone was manifest. The Industrial sections were still rather neglected, but prices generally kept steady. Rubber shares maintained their buoyancy, and dealers are hard pressed to cope with the enlarged volume of business. The pronounced shortage of spot and near rubber has forced the price of the commodity up to 3s. 10½d. per lb., which is in striking contrast to the low level of 9⅜d. per lb. in May, 1924.

RECOVERY IN BRITISH FUNDS.

Covering by "bears" on the market short of stock has been the main reason for the sharp recovery this week in British Funds. Gilt-edged stocks at first sight may not appear to be likely media for speculative operations, but during the last few months a good deal of speculation has undoubtedly been indulged in in British Funds, especially Conversion 3½ p.c.'s, and the recent periods of weakness have been accentuated by "bear" operations. The course of events in the past few days, however, has placed a somewhat better aspect on the outlook. Whatever may be in store a more confident view is being taken at the moment in the Stock Exchange regarding the general labour outlook, while as regards the gilt-edged section in particular the postponement of further new issues is providing a breathing space for the market to recover. These conditions, in the absence of any fresh developments to create depression, have rendered the "bears" nervous, and their scramble to cover has resulted in prices being put up against them.

TRINIDAD FRIENDSHIP PETROLEUM COMPANY.

The directors announce that they have acquired approximately 2,145 acres of oil-bearing land in Venezuela, situate on the eastern shore of Lake Maracaibo, known as the River Concessions. General A. The transfer books of the Grand Canal Company's Ordinary and Preference shares will be closed from 23rd July to 6th August, both days inclusive.

LONDON MOVEMENTS.

A firm tone characterised dealings in the Gilt-edged market at the opening yesterday, but later prices eased the turn, and at the close, with the exception of the 4½ p.c. War Loan, which gained ⅛ to 95, overnight quotations were repeated. Among Colonial Government Stocks, Canada 4 p.c. 1940-60 gained a point to 87, while West Australian 5 p.c. 1935-55 were also a point higher at 100.

French Loans continued a firm market in Foreign Government stocks, the lowering of the Bank rate causing a harder tendency, and at the close the Fives showed an increase of ⅛ to 15⅛, while the Fours, although unchanged on the day, were firm. Chinese issues moved higher, the 5 p.c. 1896 at 88 and the 4½ p.c. 1898 at 75 both being a point better.

RAILS HARDER.

Home Rails presented a slightly firmer appearance at the commencement of business, but did not maintain their improvement, and at the close previous quotations were generally repeated. Metropolitan Districts were marked x.d. at 45½. Great Westerns, Midlands, and Southerns were all without change, as were Undergrounds.

With the exception of a decline of ⅛ in Brazil Railway Common, Colonial and Foreign Rails were the turn harder where altered. Antofagasta Ord. put on a point to 80, while B.A.G.S. at 86 and Westerns at 71 were both ½ to the good. "Canpacs" and Grand Trunks were all unaltered. United Havana further appreciated, the closing level of 99 being a point higher.

OIL SHARES STEADY.

Following the improvement of the two preceding days the Oil Share Market opened with a firm appearance yesterday, higher prices being quoted for most of the leaders and speculative favourites. A confident tone prevailed throughout the day, but, as has recently being the case, business was not of so general a character as could be wished, attention being devoted mainly to a few specialities. A feature, particularly during the early hours, was the strength of British Controlled shares, for which an active demand existed. The buying of these shares is attributable to a report, said to emanate from New York, to the effect that the American-British Oil Co., which was formed under the auspices of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey to operate the eastern area of the Buchivacoa concession of Venezuela, had struck oil in one of its wells. No news of this character has, however, reached the London office of the British Controlled Oilfields. Should the report prove correct, it is important for the British Controlled Oilfields, which is entitled to a royalty of 12½ p.c. on the oil produced, and also to a special levy of 25 cents. per barrel on the first 2,000,000 barrels produced. A steady tone was maintained by the recognised leaders, with business on a fair scale, but although improvements were general during the early hours there was little change to record at the close.

RUBBER SHARES BUOYANT.

The price of the raw material yesterday morning was practically unchanged at 3s. 10d. per lb., but there was no falling off in the interest in the market for shares. Practically all the recognised leaders moved to higher levels, while many of the more speculative issues finished better also. Business was again on a good scale and the upward trend continued, and, with very few exceptions, price movements were all in favour of holders. Anglo-Sumatra gained 2s. 2½d. to 72s. 6d., while Bah Lias and Bukit Rajah were 1s. 6d. and 1s. 9d. higher respectively. Buntar gained 10½d. on the day, while Glenbervie spurted to 40s. 3d., or 4s. to the good. Golden Hope were another strong spot, the closing price of 41s. 3d. being 4s. 3d. higher, while Grand Central gained 2s. 3d. to 31s. Damansara put on 1s. and Malacca 2s. 6d. Kapar Para at 53s. 1½d. were 3s. 4½d. better. Kuala Lumpur were an exceptionally firm market, the final price of 62s. 6d. being 8s. 9d. above the overnight figure. Langkat Sumatra put on 2s. 6d., as did Pegoh, while Manchester North Borneo and Mendaris were both 1s. better. North Hummock finished 1s. 4½d. higher, and Rubber Estates of Johore closed 1s. 10½. to the good. Sapong jumped 5s. 7½d., while Sialang and Seafield were 2s. 6d. and 1s. 7½d. higher respectively. Sendayan put on 1s. 1½d. and Sumatra Consolidateds 1s. 10½d., while Sungei Choh and Telogoredjo both gained 2s. Tamiang and Tandjong were 1s. 10½d. and 1s. 3d. higher. The only decrease of any note was that of 1s. 4½d. in Sapumalkande to 27s. 7½d.

TEA SHARES FIRM TONE.

A firm tone prevailed in the Tea Share market yesterday, but business was not on quite so large a scale as earlier in the week. Price changes, however, were fairly numerous, and while a number of issues slipped back the turn, the majority of alterations were in favour of holders. Borelli were an exceptionally firm market, and they closed showing an advance of 6s. 7½d. to 91s. 7½d. British Assam were another good spot, the final quotation of 88s. 9d. being 8s. 4½d. to the good. Budla Beta gained ⅛. New Sylhet jumped to 83s. 9d., or 3s. 4½d. higher. Majuli gained 1s. 3d. and Lungla 7½d. Jhanzie, on the other hand, finished 3s. easier at 8s. 6d., while Amalgamated Estates shed ⅛ to 40½. Dooloogram dropped 1s. 6d. and Travancore 1s. 3d.

INDUSTRIALS QUIET.

With interest mainly centreing in Rubber Shares and the incidence of pay-day, it was not surprising to find quiet conditions prevailing in the Miscellaneous and Industrial Markets yesterday. The undertone, however, remained firm, though movements were mostly confined to narrow limits. After hours Courtaulds, Ltd., announced an interim dividend of 1s. 6d. per share, free of tax, which compares with a distribution of 1s. 3d. per share, free of tax, a year ago. Breweries presented a firm front under the lead of Watney Def., which, as a result of fresh support, finished another 3½ higher on balance at 276. City of Londons were wanted, and rose ⅛ to 3⅛. Schweppes Deferred found support, and left off 9d. better at 34s. Foodstuffs exhibited strength. Maypole Deferred hardening to 6s. and Van Den Berghs to 1⅛, the last-named showing a rise of ⅛. Wireless descriptions held their ground, with Marconi Prefs. ⅛ higher at 1⅜ and Radio Preferred ⅛ up at 10½. On the passing of the Pref. dividends Baldwins gave way to 8s., while the Prefs. fell more than 1s. to 12s. 6d., and the 5½ per Cent. weakened to 12s. 3d. Elsewhere in Iron, Coal, and Steels a drooping tendency was generally observable. Shipping Shares hardly moved, though Furness, Withys continued their advance to 28s. 3d. In Textiles, Calico Printers received attention, and closed 9d. up at 32s. 9d., while Bradford Dyers put on 6d. to 73s. Sewing Cottons, however, fell 6d. to 54s. 6d., and Fine Spinners 3d. to 46s. 3d., while Amalgamated Cottons and Slubbers both lost the turn at 7s. 9d. and 7s. 1½d. respectively. Silk Shares remained fairly steady, but Courtaulds were 3d. easier at 105s. 3d. Dunlops continued in request, on the rise in the price of rubber, and further hardened to 18s. 1½d. Elsewhere in the Miscellaneous Trading section African and Easterns strengthened to 29s. 3d., and Lever 8 per Cent. Prefs. gained the turn at 20s. 1½d. Erinoids continued an active counter, and after business at up to 12s. finished a firm market, though unchanged at 11s. 6d. J. Finlays eased to 73s. Bryant and Mays fell ⅛ to 2⅛, and Swedish Match Shares were not so good at 10⅛. News issues hardly varied. The feature among Tobaccos was the strength of Carreras, which in response to a fresh demand finished ⅛ better at 11¼, while the "A" Shares rose ⅛ to 10⅛, business being recorded at over 11. Otherwise movements were unimportant. Bank Shares showed a harder tendency. Insurances closed lower where changed. Among recent issues Synthetic Nitrate Debs. again figured prominently, further advancing to 2¼ prem., and Niger Debs. were a better market at 1⅜ dis.

Cottons fell 1s. 9d. further to 54s. 6d., and Courtauld Pref. 6d. to 18s. 6d.

In Trading, etc., Merchants' Warehousing fell 3d. to 24s. 9d. Shell Transports realised 85s. x.d. Brooks Thomas Ord. repeated 23s., and Burke Pref. 73s.

LONDON MINING MARKET FEATURELESS.

A QUIET DAY ALL OVER.

The Mining market could not boast any outstanding features, but if there was little fresh demand there was certainly no real selling worth the name, and prices generally held up well. The Kaffir section was steady, with a modest demand for a few favourites, but Paris support was lacking; in fact, that centre was inclined to offer shares, and consequently movements on the day were unimportant. The Platinum descriptions were very quiet, and T.C.L., Trans. Developments, and Hendersons were easier inclined, but S.A. Townships and Hendies Platinums were firm. The Rhodesian department presented a very idle appearance, and Chartered receded in the absence of demand. It is announced that Mr. Edward Davis has been elected a member of the Board, and this is regarded as a very favourable development, as Mr. Davis has a very wide knowledge of Rhodesian affairs, and is a sound business man. In the Diamond section the De Beers issues slipped back slightly, but Cons. Diamonds were again in demand from the Cape and went ahead, and West African Diamonds were also wanted, and moved up. There was a further rise of £2 5s. to £258 7s. 6d. per ton in the price of tin, and the share market was firm. Paris was no longer a strong supporter of Rio Tinto, and they moved down the turn, but Coppers generally were quite firm. Russo-Asiatic were wanted, and moved up. Closing prices:—

THE BANK RETURN.

Owing to the addition of £1,259,000 to the coin and bullion, due to the influx from abroad, and a contraction of £1,423,000 in the note circulation, the Bank of England reserve shows an increase for the week of £2,683,000, raising the amount to £33,406,000, which is the highest total since March 17, 1920, when the reserve exceeded £35,500,000. The coin and bullion stands at the record high figure of £158,862,000, and is £30,500,000 in excess of the figure in the corresponding week of last year, though, of course, the bulk of the increase is due to the transfer of gold from the currency notes department.

Judging from the decrease in the other securities, the repayments by the market to the Bank of England amounted to fully £24,250,000. There was also a decrease of £4,000,000 in the Government securities, and those movements, in their effect upon the resources of the market, were offset by the addition to the reserve and a decrease of £409,000 in the public deposits. Consequently the private deposits are about £25,300,000 lower, but the total still exceeds £118,500,000.

The movements in the deposits and the increase in the reserve have raised the proportion of the latter to liabilities nearly 6 per cent. to 25⅛ per cent., which is the highest ratio recorded for several years past.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS EASIER.

DISCOUNTS LOWER.

Now that the Bank of England is repaid, and the latest Bank return shows that the market is still in possession of an adequate supply of funds, money rates have become easier in Lombard street. It was possible to obtain fresh daily loans down to 3¼ p.c. yesterday, instead of 4 p.c. previously, while old loans were renewed at 3½ to 3¾ p.c. There was a corresponding reaction in discounts, the three months' rate being weak at 4⅛ to 4⅛ p.c. October Treasury bills were called 4⅛ p.c., and the banks bought a few end July maturities at 4⅛ p.c., and August dates at 4⅛ p.c.

The Bank of France yesterday reduced its rate of discount from 7 to 6 p.c.

With a cessation of the Eastern demand for silver, prices relapsed ⅛d. to 32d. for spot and 31⅛d. per ounce for two months' delivery. The market price of gold remained at 84s. 10½d. per fine ounce. India bought a small amount for direct shipment from South Africa. The Bank of England announced the receipt of £1,000,000 in sovereigns from Holland, while gold bars valued at £7,000 were sold.

French and Belgian francs were steadier, the latter finishing unaltered. The Paris quotation was finally a little worse at 103.65 after having shown an improvement. There was also some depreciation in Italian lire, the rate rising to over 132, while a further sharp decline took place in Norwegian kroner, the Oslo rate advancing to 27¾. The Danish currency was also worse, and Austria moved slightly in our favour. Greek drachmæ, Rumanian lei, and Turkish piastres were better. The sterling dollar rate finished a little dull at 4.86⅛. In the South American group, the Brazilian milreis recovered to over 5⅛, and Argentine and Chilean dollars were better. Among the Eastern exchanges, Hong Kong dollars were better at 2s. 3⅛d. and the yen further improved. Rupees were steady.

† 17½ p.c. on £4,000,000; 6¼ p.c. on £12,000,000.

In December, 1919, the authorised capital was raised from £2,300,000 to £4,000,000, and in January, 1920, 1,999,999 shares were allotted as fully paid to shareholders by way of a 100 per cent. bonus out of reserves, while in November, 1920, the capital was further increased by the creation of 8,000,000 new shares, which were issued as a 200 per cent. bonus. In July, 1924, a valuation of £16,013,628 was placed on shares in the American Viscose Corporation, of which £8,209,607 was placed to capital reserve account, and the capital was increased by the creation of £8,000,000 5 per cent. Preference shares of £1, which were issued fully paid in the proportion of two new shares for every three shares held as bonus from the capital reserve. The total authorised and issued capital of the company is £20,000,000, £12,000,000 being in Ordinary, and the remainder in 5 per cent. Cum. Preference shares.

STORE CATTLE SALE.

MESSRS. R. AND J. WILKINSON.

There was a much larger gathering of shippers present than has been noticed for some time, and the demand was considerably improved, but supplies are very curtailed and were not at all sufficient for requirements. Angus and Hereford crosses sold at £18 15/- (49/6), £18 (54/6), £17 10/- (51/-), £17 10/- (50/6), £15 10/- (53/6). Polled bullocks made up to £20 5/-, or 51/-, whilst heifers, at from £19 15/- down to £15 7/6, averaged over 50/- per cwt. There were no horned bullocks worthy of special mention.

It is announced from New York that the 4,000,000 dollars 7 per cent. Saar Basin Loan offered in New York and in Chicago at 97 has been a complete success.

PRODUCE AND FOOD MARKETS.

CATTLE.

DUBLIN METROPOLITAN CATTLE, North Circular road, Thursday.—Only a slight variation in the supply of stock penned to-day as compared with last week, but numbers continue substantially under our seasonable weekly average. The volume of trade, too, compares very unfavourably with former years, as it falls short of coping with an appreciable clearance in either branches of market. Cattle were a conspicuously rough show for time of year, we now being well into July; of the 2,932 exhibits on market, scarcely 2 per cent., or 10 or 12 drafts of beasts altogether, could be classed as A1 finish or character. For these ten or twelve drafts prices figured nearly around previous rates; otherwise the market was a good 1s. to 2s. per cwt. worse for ordinary descriptions of cattle, especially bullocks. Really choice sheep scarce, and whereas a few pens of nice quality wethers and hoggets made prices par with, or, perhaps, 3s. to 5s. a head more than last day, the plainer and commoner run of sheep, especially ewes, went contrary—viz., 3s. to 5s. per head less. Lambs a dragging and unsatisfactory trade; except for a few very choice pens taken for the Isle of Man and other fastidious requirements, market may be safely quoted 5s. to 7s. per head under last Thursday. In both branches of market there was a big carry-over of unsold stock. Canadian shipments again this week are advised up to nearly 3,000 head for the usual destinations—viz., Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow and Cardiff. Montreal shipping prices are reported firmer, prime fat steers making 8.50 dollars to 8.80; secondary to medium, 7.50 to 8.25; bulls average 5.25 to 6.00 per 100 lbs. It appears now that a second shipment of Rhodesian cattle are on passage, numbering about 230 head, making nearly 600 head, soon due to arrive. It seems that the passage will take from 24 to 30 days. As we previously stated, there will be some curiosity to know in what condition these cattle will arrive, and their value for butchering.

	Numbers on offer this week compared with last.	Corresponding weeks of 1924.	1923.
Cattle	2,932, increase 19	3,955	3,397
Sheep and lambs	9,697, decrease 137	10,759	10,323
Veal calves	9, increase 1	8	5

The beast trade ruled quiet enough throughout. There was, however, a good inquiry for nice, handy quality heifers, which figured from 52s. to 53s. and 54s. per cwt., and in fancy cases around 55s.; but bullocks were disappointingly bid for, and altogether cattle worth around 52s., especially bullocks, on last occasion, could be purchased to-day at nearer to 50s. per cwt.; ordinary descriptions of cattle may be reckoned a good 1s to 2s. per cwt. below last week's scale test. For occasional lots of bullocks suitable to Dublin requirements prices rated from 51s. to 53s. per cwt., but useful shipping classes could be bought at 47s. 6d. to 50s.; plainer cattle from 42s. to 46s.; lean and inferior proportionately less. The market for beef cows was unusually slack; in fact, butchers, for some reason or other, were shy in the purchase of cows; consequently there was a considerable proportion of entries difficult to find purchasers for. Prices were a good 2s. to 3s. per cwt. down. Best quality fat cows made from 40s. to 42s. 6d. in the average, and for the other classes terms may be reckoned anywhere from 25s. to 37s. 6d., according to age, condition, etc.

The sheep market was of an up-and-down nature. Many pens of nice quality hoggets and wethers, for which 90s. to 95s. was refused last day, were readily cashed this morning around £5 per head, and owing to the scarcity of the right article in mutton butchers were obliged to more generally pay 3s. to 5s. advance; yet for ordinary descriptions, and especially ewes, the trend of market was decidedly in the opposite direction; over the week these prices quoted 3s. to 5s. worse than previous market. Choice mutton from 1s. 1d. to 1s. 3d. per lb., perhaps 1s. 3½d. for fancy qualities; coarse and ordinary descriptions figured from 10d. to 1s. per lb. The lamb trade was discouraging; in fact, for some hours after opening of market showed a hang-fire disposition on part of buyers; subsequently matters moved in a quiet and irregular routine. For a few choice lots of heavy lambs, suitable to the Isle of Man and some Northern requirements, prices figured from 63s. to 70s., occasionally up to 75s., per head, the latter figure very exceptional. General run of suitable slaughter lambs went from 45s. to 60s. and 63s. apiece; small and horny descriptions of storish character anywhere from 30s. to 44s. each. The smaller descriptions of lambs, no doubt, stand butchers relatively dear per lb; but, taking the stronger and larger qualities of, say, 48s. to 52s. each, prices per lb. work out practically par with that of best mutton—viz., 1s. 1d. to 1s. 3d. per lb.

DUBLIN DAIRY CATTLE (North Circular road)—There were 325 head of milch cattle and springers on market. Trade showed an appreciable improvement in energy on past couple of weeks, but values were not materially influenced all the same. Suitable classes of heifer milchers figured from £24 to £28 and £30 each, and heavier descriptions of cows £28 to £30 and £32 apiece, but animals of latter type were very few. For small and ordinary cows prices went from £14 to £20 and £22 10/- each.

DUBLIN PIG (North Circular road).—Entries here totalled 947 head of swine, being 267 more than on last Thursday. Buyers in fair attendance, but trade took a much quieter turn, and generally the improvement in values previously was partially, if not wholly, lost. Nice quality hogs inside, say, 9 to 12 and 13 stone, however, were quickly taken up at current terms; say around 100/- to 105/- per cwt. dead reckoning; secondary classes slow at 92/6 to 97/6, and coarse descriptions proportionately. Heavy lard to satisfactorily cash, and may be reckoned a full 5/- to 7/6 per cwt. worse. Sow pigs practically neglected, and difficult to cash at most unremunerative terms—in fact, heavy losses to feeders, best classes, say, 52/6 to 57/6 and 60/- per cwt. Good forward stores only continue to command relatively good money.

BIRMINGHAM.—Small to medium supply and trade more active, but not brisk. Late values firmly held, with sows dearer at up to 12/- per score dead weight; sizeable bacons 17/-, and cutters 16/- to 17/-.

BRISTOL.—Beef in moderate supply, 110/- per cwt. best. Mutton fair offering, 1/3 to 1/7 per lb.; lamb 1/6 to 1/8. Few store cattle and little trade at late rates. Milch cows £22 to £30, up to £41 for superior.

YORK.—Light show of both English and Irish store cattle and small attendance. Trade was slow, though late rates were maintained, best Irish bullocks making to £22 each and young English bullocks to £15; calving and milch cows to £33. Dragging trade for sheep. Down crossed making to 92/6 and twice crossed to 84/- each.

GRAIN.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES (The Baltic).—WHEAT—A firm tone governed the cargo section, sellers being reserved and prices generally 6d. per qr. dearer, though buyers were reluctant to follow the advance. LIVERPOOL.—Higher quotations from Chicago were fully counteracted by sales of cargoes by Russia to France, and forward deliveries of WHEAT here showed a fair decline at the outset. Then prices recovered slightly, but again moved downward in the absence of support, finished at about the worst point, marking a substantial decline from previous night. C.i.f. parcels of No. 2 Manitoba afloat sold 57/7½, and choice white Karachi afloat at 53/- to Manchester. C.i.f. parcels of MAIZE River Plate May-June sold 38/6 to 38/7½, June-July 37/-, July-August 36/- per quarter. Wheat on the spot dull and easier. Maize spot parcels firm, and River Plate dearer at 8/10½ to 8/11 per cental. FLOUR quiet at about late rates. Graded wheat futures opened ½d. per cental lower, then recovered ½d., but again moved downwards, and after fair fluctuations the market closed quiet at 1¼d. to 2½d. under last night. Maize options neglected and nominal.

MANCHESTER.—Wheat—Rather better feeling in English, 54/- to 54/6 per quarter on rail. Foreign opened rather easier. Maize firmer; white African spot 9/5 to 9/5½. Karachi 9/6 per cental. Oats—Cheshire 10/6 to 10/9 per cwt. on rail. English feeding barley around 40/-. Beans 46/- to 47/- per quarter on rail. Flour—Straight run grades 45/6 per sack at mill. Offals dearer.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL.—Irish and Danish BACON ruled steady, with a moderate demand at the recent decline. Canadian Wiltshires quiet at 103/- to 108/- per cwt. Holders of American bacon here continue to offer somewhat sparingly, and no quotable change is made in prices of any description, but buyers still confine their operations to the supply of actual needs. HAMS somewhat more freely offered, and, with supplies fully equal to requirements, short cut are reduced to 121/- to 129/- per cwt. Shoulders firm at late rates for squares, but picnics again easier at 82/- to 84/- per cwt. for the heavier averages. LARD on the spot quiet at about late rates for prime steam but American refined the turn easier at 88/9 to 90/9 per cwt. CHEESE less active, and prices reduced partially 1/-. MISCELLANEOUS.

LIVERPOOL COTTON.—American — Opening about 16 points higher on the overnight advices from New York, values continued supported during the first hour by trade calling, together with covering purchases. In the afternoon a reaction set in owing to American selling and poor New York cables, due to favourable weather reports. At the close the tone was barely steady, with values showing a net advance on the day of about 9 to 10 points. Egyptians after being steady declined in the absence of support; this season's months closed 5 to 15 points and next season's months about 25 points lower. Spot market—American again in small demand; quotations are 10 points higher. Egyptian quiet; quotations of brown are 10 points and those of upper 20 points higher. Brazilian 10 points higher. East Indian 15 points higher.

BRADFORD WOOL.—Result of London sales has improved the tone of the Bradford markets, but it has not perceptibly stimulated business. Most topmakers are asking at least 52d. for sixty-fours, but, though wool out of London would cost more than this, users show little response, and it is difficult to establish higher rates.

MANCHESTER HAY AND STRAW.—Steady demand again reported on Produce Exchange, and late rates fairly well maintained. General quotations:—Lincolnshire rye grass and clover £6, Cheshire £5 5/- to £5 10/-, meadow hay £5 to £5 5/-, oat straw 70/- to 72/6, wheat straw 72/6; all delivered Manchester. Prime Canadian clover mixed hay £5 10/- per ton at quay.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN RISING.

Values of TIN took a further upward turn on sustained buying orders received, with higher Eastern cables, while sellers exercised more reserve. On balance cash marked an advance of 45/- and forward 35/- per ton compared with the closing rate of Wednesday last. Standard cash quoted £258 5/- to £258 10/-, three months £260 to £260 5/-, settlement price £258 10/-. 1,200 tons changed hands; cash at £257 5/- to £258 10/-, three months £259 5/- to £260 7/6, and finally £260 5/-. English ingots quoted £258 10/- to £259. COPPER was actively dealt in and prices registered an advance of 10/- for cash and 12/6 per ton forward compared with previous close. Standard cash quoted £61 12/6 to £61 15/-, three months £62 12/6 to £62 15/-, settlement price £60 15/-. Sales amounted to 3,700 tons, comprising cash at £61 12/6, three months £62 10/- to £62 15/-; electros quoted £65 10/- to £66, and wire bars £66. LEAD firmer, while in good support. 1,300 tons sold; good soft foreign pig July at £34, August £33 15/- to £33 17/6, September £33 13/9 to £33 11/3, October £33 10/- to £33 8/9, November £33 2/6 to £33 5/-, settlement price £34; English quoted £35 5/-. SPELTER was accorded good support and market firmer. 900 tons sold; July at £34 12/6 to £34 13/9, August £34 10/-, September £34 10/-, October £34 5/- to £34 7/6, settlement price £34 12/6 per ton. TIN PLATES, also QUICKSILVER, unaltered.

GLASGOW IRON AND STEEL.—Business in Scotch iron and steel very slack. No indication of any improvement after the holidays, which start next week. Prices inclined to slip downward. Bar iron production much below capacity. Thin blacksheets for export a good trade. Galvanised department fairly active. Prices have firmer tendency. Dearth of orders for bar iron. Malleable scrap lower.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

At the public sale three catalogues were submitted jointly, totalling 10,506 bales, which included 2,307 New South Wales and Queensland, 800 Victorian, 340 Tasmanian, 230 South Australian, 902 West Australian, 3,985 New Zealand, 999 Cape, 45 Kenya Colony, 866 Falklands, 23 South American. Good competition was again forthcoming from a full attendance of buyers, and late rates were fully maintained in most instances. Superior merinos tended in sellers' favour while supported by a good Continental demand, but faulty and inferior sorts disclosed slight irregularity. Cross-breds also sold well, particularly the finer growths, at late currency.

ORTHOPÆDIC HOSPITAL OF IRELAND.

A meeting of the Board of Governors of the Orthopædic Hospital was held at 22 Upper Merrion street on the 8th inst., the Vice-Chairman, E. D. MacLaughlin, Esq., LL.B., presiding. Also present:—Miss G. Dobbs, Captain R. French, Mrs. A. E. Goodbody, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Haughton, Miss Kirkpatrick, Miss A. Maguire and Lady Walker. The routine business was transacted and cheques amounting to £394 4/7 were signed in payment of accounts. The number of patients in the hospital on the 30th June was 74, and the daily average during the month 79. The Governors gratefully acknowledge the following subscriptions received during June:—The Carlow Milk Depot Committee for the Co. Carlow Cot, £10; Messrs. Leverett and Frye, £2 2/-; Mrs. E. Molony, £2; Miss Garnett, 2/6. The Matron thanks the following who kindly sent gifts to the patients:—Miss Latimer, Ticknock Cottage, Shankhill; Mrs. Glenn, Holly House, Newtown Park avenue, Blackrock; Mrs McCarthy, Civic Guard Depot, Phœnix Park; Mrs. Monaghan, Stillorgan Park; Miss Corcoran, Royal Hibernian Hotel, Dublin; the Children's Service, Zion Church, Rathgar; the Flower Service, Presbyterian Church, Bray; Mrs Tough, Inchicore; T. Rea Meek, The College, Navan; Mrs. Goodbody, Clara.

After considering for five and a-half hours the question of calling a general strike in support of the men in the Ammanford area, the Swansea Antracite Association's District Committee failed to reach a decision.
